Yarrows to Build 9 New Corvettes

Nine of the new type of large corvettes will be built by Yarrows Limited of Esquimalt, and eight by the Burrard Drydock Company Limited, North Vancouver, according to authoritative information received in the city late this afternoon.

The 17 corvettes will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

Norman A. Yarrow, managing director of Yarrows Ltd., is now in Ottawa in connection with the contract. He plans to leave the capital by air tomorrow on his return to the coast.

It was indicated here that construction work will commence almost at once.

The new ships will be somewhere between old style corvettes and destroyers in design, speed and armament.

Moscow Flanks Bend in Battle

Associated Press

The Russians acknowledged today serious new German gains on the northern and southern flanks of Moscow's defence arc, but declared Red army counter-attacks in the Ukraine had thrown the Nazis back six miles northwest of Rostov-on-Don, in the sector where the Germans had already lost from 37 to 60 miles.

The Vichy radio, quoting German front reports, said Nazi mechanized forces had slashed through Red army defences to a point within less than 16 miles of Moscow—the closest approach to the Soviet capital since Hitler started his drive against Moscow Oct. 2.

The radio said German spearheads had broken through southeast of Klin, 50 miles northwest of Moscow.

Enemy Loses More Than at Verdun

S. A. Lozovsky, Soviet spokesman, said German casualties in the fighting around Rostov totaled 37,000 and that the two major drives against Moscow had cost the Nazis more dead and wounded than the 330,000 they lost in the first Great War battle of Verdun.

Soviet front line dispatches conceded a powerful thrust by German tanks, planes and infantry had smashed through the Stalingrad sector, 120 miles southeast of Moscow, and advanced to the outskirts of the town of "V"—presumably Venev, 40 miles northeast of Stalingrad.

Stalingrad itself is 60 miles east of Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, and long the scene of bloody fighting.

Frank Putnam In, Asselstine Out?

Frank Putnam, M.L.A.-elect for Nelson-Creston, today was sworn in as Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia.

He succeeds Dr. K. C. MacDonald, who submitted his resignation to Premier Pattullo some days ago. Dr. MacDonald left his office Tuesday.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Labor, could not be located for the statement he, late Tuesday afternoon, promised the press.

At midnight Mr. Asselstine told a reporter over the telephone he had resigned. Earlier the Premier said: "Mr. Asselstine has not resigned. He has not turned in his resignation."

Asked this morning to clarify the situation, the Premier said: "I have nothing to say. I haven't seen Mr. Asselstine today. I only read in the paper where he had resigned."

Putnam Appointment Comes as Surprise

Announcement that Mr. Putnam would become Minister of Agriculture was made by the Premier at 11:35. Half an hour later he was sworn in at Government House by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward. Present at the third swearing-in ceremony in 12 days were Mr. Pattullo and Public Works Minister Thomas King. The only other cabinet ministers, Hon. A. Wells Gray and Hon. C. S. Leary, are on the mainland today.

On his arrival at Government House the Premier conferred privately for a few minutes with his Honor.

Mr. Putnam arrived on the morning boat from Vancouver and later had an interview with the Premier.

As he took office in the Parliament Buildings, Mr. Putnam issued the following statement: "I thoroughly realize the difficulties of the present situation and while, on account of business interests, I am not interested from a personal standpoint in being Minister of Agriculture, yet I feel in this crisis that I should do a part, so far as I am able, in the carrying on of the government until the whole matter is settled in a comparatively few days hence by the Legislature."

"In my opinion, matters have reached such a stage that the only way they can possibly be settled other than an appeal to the electorate, is by the Legislature, and, as the session has

Island Liberals Want John Hart

In Vancouver, too, it is believed the majority sentiment among Liberals favors a change. But it is stated there is not the unanimity there is in Victoria.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal M.L.A.-elect for Yale, has also joined the coalitionists. He is the second up-country Liberal to favor such a union, M. G. T. Perry of Fort George so declaring himself a few days ago.

Dr. Gillis said in a statement: "Either Mr. Pattullo will have to accept a coalition government or there will be another election. There is no other alternative."

"Personally I do not think the people of British Columbia will stand for another election in these grave times."

"My own belief is that a coalition will be called almost as soon as the session opens. I fancy there will be an adjournment on the second or third day, so that a representative government can be formed."

In Prince Rupert Tuesday night, a meeting of the Liberal Association unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the continued leadership of Premier Pattullo, M.L.A.-elect for that con-

Prince Rupert delegates to the convention handed over their proxies to Arthur Brookbank, secretary of the association, who, with Olaf Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, will leave Saturday to attend the eagerly-awaited convention, which promises to be one of the most spectacular and heated in the history of the province.

Minister C. S. Leary said in Vancouver today he "firmly believes" a coalition necessary for the war period, but he will not resign from the cabinet or take other action until after the provincial Liberal convention Dec. 2.

"I was elected a democratic Liberal and I feel duty bound to remain such," he said.

Fresh Forces Hurled Into Libya Battle

Associated Press

Strong British and German reserves were poured today into the fight at Rezegh, where the biggest battle of the Libyan campaign is shaping up on the wasteland plateau south of Tobruk, according to news reaching Cairo.

Further to the east the Germans countered with a tank drive across the frontier into Egypt between Sidi Omar and Halfaya Pass.

The British communiqué described this as a diversion effort. They said bombers and artillery fire already had knocked out a third of the tanks in the German column and British tanks were closing in to deal with the others.

Later, a BBC account of the fight said the remaining tanks in this force were last reported to have turned back toward Libya.

At Rezegh it seemed apparent the battle had yet to reach its peak. Striving for a decision there, Lt. Gen. Erwin Rommel was said to have hurled his Nazi reserves into the fight, while British tank reinforcements fought their way into the battle to support infantry units already sent into action.

Two-thirds of Way Across 'Hump'

Another British, South African and Indian drive has covered more than two-thirds of the desert route from the Egyptian frontier across the Libyan "hump" to El Agheila, on the Gulf of Sirte, southwest of Benghazi.

An 8th Army communiqué said this force had seized the Gialo Oasis, more than 200 miles from the border where it began its dash to the west.

The Tobruk garrison, with the support of tanks, penetrated farther east into its encircling line of Axis troops and captured more prisoners and 24 field guns, the communiqué said.

It said that considerable British tank reinforcements previously held in reserve had now reached the forward battle areas to join other armored forces which had been reorganizing for resumption of fighting in the Rezegh area.

New Zealanders Drive With Tanks

New Zealand reinforcements, with important tank formations, were making "steady progress westward" despite "considerable opposition," the announcement said. Meanwhile, British and South African troops in the battle of Rezegh held their ground Tuesday.

In London informed quarters said both sides probably would throw in "about everything they have" into battle in the Rezegh area.

Coming to Victoria

LONDON (CP)—Air Commodore L. F. Stevenson, in a farewell message after he had handed over command to Air Vice-Marshal Harold Edwards, today conveyed to members of the R.C.A.F. overseas "my appreciation of their splendid performance while serving with me."

The air commodore, who relinquished his post here to go to Victoria, B.C., as officer commanding the western air command, assured the Canadian air-area, which they said may determine the fate of Libya.

The Battle of Libya "still is raging furiously, with heavy losses on both sides," an authoritative source said. The conflict is "possibly reaching a fresh crisis."

Enemy Transports

He added that west of Sidi Omar British forces had discovered a concentration of Axis motor transports, which "might be an indication the Germans and Italians were trying to break out of the ring" near the Egyptian-Libyan border. The R.A.F. bombed the concentration heavily.

German forces in the Salum area near the frontier also were reported still held in British encirclement.

One source said British warships were continuing their bombardment of the Axis-occupied Libyan coast, and probably were using Bardia as a port.

The spokesman estimated seven Axis supply or troop ships, a cruiser and a destroyer had been sunk by the Royal Navy, and a schooner probably was fired, since the Libyan advance began.

However, he hinted that even if Imperial forces succeeded in occupying all of Libya the Mediterranean would remain unusable as a regular route for merchant ships to the Middle East. He said the mined area between Sicily and Tunisia was a "dirty spot," and even if Bizerte, French naval base in Tunisia, were occupied, Axis air bases in Sicily and Pantellaria would make the route difficult.

Occupation of Libya up to El Agheila would give the navy much greater control in the eastern Mediterranean, would facilitate supplying Malta, and would permit shore-based fighters to protect sea lanes and endanger Axis supply routes, he said.

Japanese-U.S. Talks Reach Critical Stage

WASHINGTON (CP)—Critical final stages of conversations between Japanese representatives and the United States government appeared near today as the American consul-general in Tokyo issued an urgent appeal to his fellow nationals in Japan to leave the country.

Neither party to the discussions would predict outcome of the talks, which since their inception had the earmarks of an outright Japanese demand for abandonment of present United States policy in the Far East.

State Secretary Cordell Hull told newsmen Tuesday he could not predict the outcome and would not know if even a basis of agreement had been reached until after his next meeting with Saburo Kurosu.

TOKYO (AP)—State Secretary Hull's continued conferences with envoys of the other A.B.C.D. powers caused authoritative Japanese quarters to take a gloomy view today of the outlook for Washington negotiations seeking a lessening of Japanese-American tension.

This coincided with renewed pressure by United States authorities to get their nationals to leave Japan.

Referring to the talks between Hull and Japan's envoys, Saburo Kurosu and Ambassador Admiral Nomura, Domei, news agency with close official connections, said:

"The general feeling among well-informed circles is that the Japan-United States talks can not be regarded with undue optimism, especially in view of Mr. Hull's conferences with representatives of the A.B.C.D. powers (America, Britain, China, Dutch East Indies.)"

"Observers expect a definite turn one way or the other in the next few days, meanwhile pointing out that while Japan is doing her utmost to ensure peace (Foreign Minister) Togo already has started (in his Nov. 17 speech to the Diet) that Japan sees no reason for any drawn-out talks."

With 360 White Americans still left in the Japanese empire, the United States consulate advised American citizens once again to consider leaving Japan promptly.

Most of the 360 are missionaries, however, and U.S. Consul-General Stanley Slivers said they likely will remain at their posts regardless of developments.

The Foreign Office announced the Japanese steamship Tatuta Maru would sail Dec. 2 for Los Angeles and Bahia. This would enable more Americans to sail aboard her. The ship originally had been scheduled to depart this month.

Urges Greater Efforts By Britons in U.S.

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden promised today to consider approaching the United States to obtain the names of British subjects in America in an effort to determine whether "they are playing the game" in the war effort.

He gave this promise in the Commons after Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, had pressed him to find out "what form of national service" Britons in the United States are rendering.

Lapointe's Death Mourned

MONTREAL (CP)—Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, 65, Minister of Justice and statesman of French Canada, died in hospital today after a critical illness of less than a month.

Death came in the ninth day of the gravest period of his illness, during which a series of attacks had shaken his rugged frame. Describing him as "unpredictable," his medical advisers said only his "remarkable" resistance had brought him back from the gravest of crises.

But today his heart, weakened by the fight for life, gave way under the strain. Authorities at Notre Dame Hospital announced that death came at 9:15 a.m. E.D.T. (5:15 a.m., P.S.T.)

CAUSED BY CANCER

Dr. Jules Prevost, who attended Mr. Lapointe throughout his illness, told reporters death was caused by "cancer of the pancreas, complicated by a pulmonary affection."

Dr. Prevost added it had been "inadvisable to reveal the nature of the illness before because up until two days ago Mr. Lapointe had access to the radio and the newspapers."

The consulting physicians included Dr. J. C. Meakins, professor of medicine at McGill University, and Dr. R. E. Valin of the Ottawa General Hospital.

(Mr. Lapointe was in Victoria several times. He was last here in March of this year on vacation. Generally he told reporters "I'm really not here, you know.")

THOUGHT OF OTHERS

Throughout his illness Mr. Lapointe's thoughts were for others, for his family, for Canada, for the French-Canadian race, whose leader he had been for so long.

"I have confidence in my compatriots," he said to those around him. "I know they will do their duty."

And in his prayers he asked: "St. Joseph protect my compatriots."

ONLY ONE SORROW

The only sorrow he expressed at his approaching passing was that he was leaving when he might still be of service to his people.

Since the outbreak of war he had given unstintingly of his strength. He was tired from his labors when he entered hospital Nov. 5. His body was wracked with ailments which sapped his strength and struck him down suddenly when he was wearied.

Only his heart was strong and "I have confidence in my compatriots." . . . Late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

It saw him through crisis after crisis until it could no longer carry the burden alone.

His mind, too, remained clear—bright, human and friendly.

At the death were Mrs. Lapointe; his daughter, Mrs. Roger Quimet, and her husband; Mr. Lapointe's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hughes Lapointe, whose husband is bound for Canada from Britain; and a group of other relatives and close friends.

Relatives announced the body would be taken to Quebec to lie in state at the Quebec Legislative Buildings. Later, it will be taken to Riviere du Loup, Que., for burial.

The announcement of death was made by Dr. J. R. Boutin, hospital medical director, who walked into a waiting room and told newspapermen.

UNCONSCIOUS

Apparently during Tuesday he was semiconscious most of the time with periods of consciousness. A large number of messages, including one from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, continued to flow in through the night.

Mr. Lapointe died just six days after the nation had joined in tribute to his famous predecessor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier—a tribute in which Mr. Lapointe himself had joined. He sent a message, written in bed, extolling the man whose mantle he had donned and borne so ably and so gracefully.

Ernest Lapointe's position in Canadian public life was unique. The outstanding spokesman for French Canada, he was dean of the House of Commons with a record of 37 years of parliamentary service. Holding the key portfolio of Justice Minister, he was considered almost a joint Prime Minister with Mr. King.

INSTITUTION

An unbroken tenure of almost four decades in the Commons, bold qualities of leadership and a charming personality, made Mr. Lapointe a Canadian institution. Few Canadian public men ever enjoyed a greater measure of personal popularity in every section of Canada than did the tall, genial representative of the constituency of Quebec East.

In the Empire and international spheres he was frequently spokesman and representative for Canada and he was a pioneer in the developments in Empire relations which resulted in Canada and the other dominions assuming a status of complete sovereignty and equality with the United Kingdom. He was the signer for Canada of the first treaty made by this country on its own account.

ON ENTRY TO WAR

Perhaps the most celebrated of his speeches was delivered Sept. 9, 1939, at the special session of Parliament called to decide on Canada's entry into the war. Leaving to the Prime Minister and others the task of discussing issues at stake in the war, he set out to show two things—that Canada could not remain neutral and could not have conscription.

Rather than see conscription in Canada he declared that he and all the Quebec ministers would leave the cabinet. Neutrality would mean civil war, because neutrality would not stand for the obligations of neutrality.

M.P. IN 1904

Although Mr. Lapointe in 1904 entered the House of Commons with but a slight knowledge of the English language, he became in time one of the ablest and most eloquent of speakers in English.

Mr. Lapointe was born on a farm at St. Eloi, Temiscouata county, Quebec, Oct. 6, 1876, and was educated at Rimouski College and Laval University. He was called to the bar and began his practice in the county town of Riviere du Loup. In 1904 he was elected to Parliament for Kamouraska and represented that seat until Sir Wilfrid Laurier's death in 1919. Then he had established a law practice in Quebec City. He was elected at a by-election Oct. 27, 1919, in Quebec East and held the seat in six succeeding general elections, 1921-1940.

ENTERED CABINET

When the Liberal Party came into power in 1921 Lapointe was appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

From then on, literally as well as figuratively, he was Mr. King's right hand man. He shared a desk with him and sat at his right hand in the House. He led the House in Mr. King's absence and served as acting Prime Minister. He was one of the most powerful spokesmen for the Liberal Party at election time both in Quebec and the English-speaking provinces.

Perhaps the greatest test of Mr. Lapointe's leadership came in the fall of 1939, shortly after the outbreak of the second Great War. Then Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale premier of Quebec, called a provincial election and challenged the soundness of the federal government's policy of leading Canada unreservedly into the war.

CHALLENGE TO VICTORY

Mr. Lapointe answered the challenge by announcing that if Mr. Duplessis won the election he and other Quebec members of the King government would resign. He threw himself into the provincial campaign in support of Adolphe Godbout, leader of the provincial Liberal Party. The result was the overwhelming defeat of the Duplessis government, an event construed in other parts of Canada and abroad as a demonstration of the unity of French-speaking Quebec with the English-speaking provinces in favor of full participation in the war.

Mr. Lapointe was regarded as the hero of the victory. In the federal general election which followed a few months later the Liberal Party made almost a clean sweep of Quebec constituencies.

In the 1940 Dominion election Mr. Lapointe's only son, Hugues,

Mr. King's Tribute to Lapointe

Champion of Worthy Causes

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's loss in the death of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe will be to some degree lessened by the fact that his spirit will continue to inspire those who admired his judgment and adherence to principle.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in a tribute to his closest colleague.

"Mr. Lapointe was the most unselfish of men as he was the most chivalrous and most patriotic," said Mr. King, who recalled his 22 years sharing the same House of Commons desk with Mr. Lapointe and 14 years at the same cabinet table.

Mr. King's statement said in part:

"The word of the death of the Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe will be received with profound sorrow in all parts of Canada. Canadians everywhere, regardless of political affiliations, will be agreed that, in Mr. Lapointe, our country has lost one of the greatest of her sons and a statesman the country could ill afford to lose at any time, and least of all in these days of crisis and stress."

"In one of the last talks I had with Mr. Lapointe, he said to me that what he most regretted about his illness was that it meant he would not be here to continue to take his part in seeking to meet the difficult situations with which the country was faced. That regret will be shared by all Canada. He has passed from us at a moment which may well prove to be the most critical in the history of our country, as indeed it is, in the history of the world."

LAURIER ANNIVERSARY

"It is not without significance that Mr. Lapointe's death should have occurred within a few days of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

"So faithful in all things was Mr. Lapointe to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and to the Laurier tradition, that the lives of the two, in point of succession, were as one. Never had a master a truer disciple."

"Every worthy cause had in him a fearless champion. His sympathies were with the people in their struggle for economic and social reform. He was ever solicitous of the rights of minorities and of the welfare of those in humble circumstances."

"In his public life, Mr. Lapointe maintained, throughout, the high

B.C. FLIER BAGS MESSERSCHMITT

OTTAWA (CP)—F.O. C. A. B. Wallace of North Vancouver has shot down a Messerschmitt 109 and "probably destroyed" another, R.C.A.F. announced today.

The communiqué covered extensive operations by Canadian airmen.

It also disclosed that in recent weeks a Canadian squadron attached to the Royal Air Force coastal command attacked 15 enemy vessels, sinking one and leaving others in a damaged condition.

Another Canadian squadron also attached to the coastal command carried out escort patrols and "safely" convoyed British shipping through the area allotted to it, under record gale conditions.

Seattle Symphony, Beecham Parting?

SEATTLE (AP)—Sir Thomas Beecham has not been asked to conduct the Seattle Symphony Orchestra again next season, and will not be invited to do so unless symphony leaders can offer him an improved orchestra, Paul C. Harper, president, told a Symphony League meeting Tuesday.

Such an invitation will depend on results of a forthcoming sustaining-fund drive and on the group's ability to obtain musicians of sufficient competence, he explained.

"We have notified the musicians' union that it must be more lenient next year in the matter of 'importers,'" Harper said. He explained that the union objected to replacement of any local musician with a player from outside Seattle unless the local musician was "terrible."

BREST WHARVES BLASTED BY R.A.F.

LONDON (CP)—Docks at Brest and Cherbourg in occupied France were attacked heavily by a small but powerful group of R.A.F. bombers Tuesday night.

An Air Ministry communique today reported no aircraft lost in the raids, but said one machine of the coastal command was lost in other operations during the night. A Nazi bomber was shot down over Britain.

Another communique said there were only a few enemy planes over Britain Tuesday night. Bombs were dropped at several points in the southwest of England, and damage was caused to houses and there were some casualties, including some people killed.

Nazi Sattelites Hear Propaganda

BERLIN (AP)—Foreign Minister Ribbentrop contended before signers of the anti-Comintern pact today that the British House of Commons at a secret session discussed a three-sided attack on Germany by Russia, Britain and Yugoslavia before Germany attacked Russia.

Addressing the statesmen of the seven nations who came to Berlin for signing ceremonies Tuesday, Ribbentrop claimed Hitler had received a copy of the proceedings in the secret session before Germany invaded Russia.

Ribbentrop asserted the "secret proceedings" revealed Prime Minister Churchill had the promise of positive support from President Roosevelt in such a strategy.

(London did not comment immediately on this Ribbentrop speech. Germany has been giving the world a series of explanations for two years for her attacks on various countries.)

He declared that Germany's attack on Russia forestalled such a plan "at the last moment," and reiterated Hitler's claim that from a military viewpoint Russia is crushed.

Ribbentrop told the assembled delegates of Axis-dominated countries that Germany has "won" her campaign in the east and the war now lines up only as a fight with Britain and her "trans-Atlantic helpers."

The United States, Von Ribbentrop said, remains the "last powerful ally" of Britain. He added that Hitler long had calculated on the hostility of a "small clique of leaders" in the United States.

Aircraft Detection Corps Spreads in Eastern Canada

By ARTHUR MERKEL

HALIFAX (CP)—The R.C.A.F. permitted disclosure today that a force of 2,000 civilians scattered throughout eastern Canada and Newfoundland has been trained in the job of speedily reporting any suspicious aircraft or naval vessels in their districts.

This disclosure, coming some two weeks after Navy Minister Macdonald's statement that German U-boats have been operating within sight of the Newfoundland coast and a warning by Vice-Admiral Percy Nelles that enemy submarines might soon be operating off Canada, stressed the importance of the work of these volunteer observers in the Dominion's defence set-up.

LAUNCHED LAST YEAR

Organization of the aircraft detection corps of the R.C.A.F. and appointment of its official observers—to use the name by which they are known at headquarters—was started in the summer of 1940, but until now its existence was known to few outsiders.

Originally, the corps was organized to provide the air force with prompt and reliable reports of approaching enemy aircraft or defence forces of vital Canadian war materials to England, the outcome of the war cannot be changed, he said.

COWPUNCHER BOOTS

LONDON (CP)—Cowpuncher high heel boots are the latest style note for R.A.F. gunners. They were introduced by Sgt. W. S. Tyler of Corpus Christi, Tex.

centres would be forewarned of an attack and be prepared to meet it. Later, the duties of the observers at coastal points were expanded and they were asked to watch for suspicious vessels which the navy might be anxious to investigate.

In a similar manner, they provide the air force with immediate information regarding plane crashes and aircraft in distress, and the navy with details of ship wreckage, gear, mines and other objects that might drift ashore.

SCATTERED STATIONS

The observers are concentrated chiefly in Nova Scotia, where there are approximately 750; in Newfoundland, with better than 500, and throughout New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. Others operating for the eastern air command are located in Quebec, along the Labrador coast, and in northern sections of Ontario and Manitoba, principally around Hudson Bay. In addition, vessels with ship-to-shore radio communication also act as observers.

Operating for the western air command of the R.C.A.F. is another branch of this corps of observers, stationed west of Manitoba.

Who says they are the most comfortable footwear he has ever found. He wears them in the tail gunner's turret of a giant Halifax bomber.

In 1927, 10 comets were reported by astronomers. Six of these were new and the rest were periodic visitors.

Tooth Decay Linked With Vitamin Lack

SAN FRANCISCO—Tooth decay, one of the commonest of dental diseases, may be due to a deficiency of some of the vitamins in the B group, it appears from laboratory experiments reported here today by Dr. Hermann Becks, professor of dental medicine at the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research, University of California, and Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan, professor of home economics at the university.

Dogs on a diet lacking one of the B vitamins developed tooth decay, normally absent in dogs, Dr. Becks found. The B vitamin lacking was the filtrate factor. Its function is still a mystery.

When the dogs' diet was deficient in nicotinic acid, the animals developed pyorrhea and severe bleeding of the gums. A third or control group, on a balanced diet, developed no decay or pyorrhea.

Dr. Becks makes no attempt to fit his findings to human tooth decay since he worked only with dogs.

"On the other hand," he points out, "clinical experience has already produced excellent results with certain vitamin B fractions in the treatment of Vincent's disease, an infection of the mucous membrane, and other inflammatory diseases of the mouth. Ulcer formations of the tongue and inside the cheek have been successfully treated by the administration of nicotinic acid."

Dr. Becks said the experiments provide a most encouraging link between carbohydrates and dental decay.

The body converts carbohydrates into sugars. It is well known that vitamin B is necessary for the correct assimilation of sugars. However, a large percentage of the foods of the modern diet have the vitamin B removed in processing.

This leaves the body, including the teeth, without protection against the harmful effects of sugars which do not contain vitamin B.

Dr. Becks and other research dentists have shown there is a direct relationship between tooth decay and a bacillus, called Lactobacillus acidophilus. The number of bacilli found in the mouth has been found to be in strict proportion to the amount of sugars and carbohydrates consumed, that is, sugars and carbohydrates which have the vitamin B removed in processing.

Dental decay, like the common cold, is one of the mysteries of medicine. The American Dental Association has provided a fellowship for dental research at the National Institute of Health, research arm of the U.S. Public Health Service, to help solve this problem.

Lake Temperatures
The water at the bottom of all deep lakes in temperate regions remains permanently at 4 degrees Centigrade, or 39.15 degrees Fahrenheit.

British Deny Dragon Sunk

LONDON (CP)—The Ministry of Information said today: "With reference to German claims to have torpedoed H.M. ship Dragon, in order to present unnecessary anxiety to next of kin, it can be stated authoritatively that H.M. ship Dragon has not been attacked."

Previously the Admiralty had refused to comment on the German claim made first by the Nazi radio and then issued by a spokesman in the Wilhelmstrasse that the light cruiser Dragon had been sunk in the Atlantic by a U-boat.

Authoritative sources refused to comment on the later German communique claim that a cruiser of the Dragon class had been sunk. The Germans changed the wording of their claim after the Dragon denial was issued in London, and British sources regarded this as fishing for information.

Eight six-inch gun vessels of 4,850 tons each make up the British D class and they carry from 450 to 469 men. The Dragon, launched Dec. 29, 1917, is the oldest of the group.

Flier Honored

LONDON (CP)—A flying officer who piloted an aircraft from which British parachute troops were dropped into Italy early this year was decorated by the King in a recent investiture at Buckingham Palace. It was disclosed today.

The nature of the award and name of the officer were not revealed. The award, however, was not connected with the daring flight to Italy. The officer received the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in daylight raids on Brest and La Pallice, ports of occupied France.

Reinstatement Of Levine Urged

NEW YORK—Scientists at the University of Toronto are making determined efforts to obtain the reinstatement of one of their number, Dr. Samuel Levine, research associate in geophysics, whom they hold to have been unjustly imprisoned and afterwards deprived of his position at the university, equally without justification. The case is outlined in the current issue of Science, published here by Dr. Harry Grunfest of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, national secretary of the American Association of Scientific Workers.

Dr. Levine was arrested after two men, who had been roomers in his house, had been taken into custody as Communists. A few pamphlets were found in his dining-room, which the two men had been using. Despite strong testimony in his favor by his colleagues, and the declaration of the two roomers that he had been in no way involved in their affairs, Dr. Levine, tried before a jury, was sentenced to six months in prison. After serving three months he was released from prison, but confined in an internment camp for nearly another three months before he was giving a hearing. After three hearings, with intervals of a month between them, he was unconditionally released.

Dr. Grunfest characterizes the Canadian legislation under which Dr. Levine was arrested and imprisoned as "adopted in war hysteria, harsh and undemocratic," and calls attention to the fact that in Britain, despite the far greater war danger, freedom of speech and of action is far less interfered with than in Canada. He also declares that Dr. Levine's scientific work is of considerable importance as a contribution to defence and hence merits continuation on its former basis at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Lapointe

ALTHOUGH HE HAD BEEN A DISTINGUISHED spokesman for French-Canadians in the Parliament of Canada for 37 years, 32 of them as Minister of Justice in successive Liberal administrations, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, whose death Canadians in all walks of life today are mourning, brought to the interpretation and discharge of his exacting obligations a meticulous regard for the broadest possible conception of Canadianism and all the term connotes. He knew Canada, her people and their moods and aspirations, as well as most men in public life.

For many years the chief of Quebec Liberals in Dominion affairs, Mr. Lapointe virtually fell heir to the mantle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. After Sir Wilfrid's death he sat in the House of Commons for the late Premier's old constituency of Quebec East and was the chief French-Canadian spokesman at the council table of the Liberal Party. When the party came into power he was Mr. Mackenzie King's chief lieutenant in the government. A man of unusual charm of manner and disposition, he captured the affections of French and English-speaking Canadians alike. In the province of Quebec he was almost idolized and his popularity extended to the whole of Canada. He was a pleasing and convincing speaker in either French or English. Few men addressing the Commons were listened to with more concentrated attention. Always polite in debate and considerate of the feelings of others, Mr. Lapointe chose his words with care and his arguments after deep consideration.

Perhaps Mr. Lapointe's most notable work was in connection with the constitutional position of the Dominions in the British Empire. With Mr. Mackenzie King he attended the Imperial Conference of 1926 at which the doctrine of equality of status of the Dominions with Great Britain was defined. The problems connected with carrying that doctrine into effect were delegated to a later conference of legal officers which held lengthy sessions in 1929 with Mr. Lapointe as the chief Canadian representative. The report of this conference on the operation of Dominion legislation and merchant shipping legislation was the formula by which the changes in the legal relations of the different parts of the British Empire were to be given effect. It was approved at the Imperial Conference of 1930 and submitted for the final sanction of the Parliaments of the Dominions and Great Britain. The Statute of Westminster emerged and legalized procedure which custom and practice for long had sanctioned.

It is interesting to recall in this regard, incidentally, that Mr. Lapointe was the first Canadian minister, with full powers from the King, to sign a treaty. This had to do with Pacific coast fisheries—known familiarly as the Halibut Treaty—and the ceremony took place in Washington early in 1923 while the late Minister of Justice was Minister of Marine and Fisheries in the King government of that day. While this signal departure from customary constitutional procedure did not intrigue the average Canadian—comparatively few, perhaps, realized that any significance attached to it at all—one or two hard-and-fast traditionalists in Great Britain viewed the incident with a species of alarm not unusual in minds not readily adjustable to change. In the intervening years, however, even the most implacable Tory stand-patter has grown accustomed to the inexorable evolutionary processes under which the British family of nations has progressed from strength to strength.

In the last days of his busy life, therefore, Mr. Lapointe must have derived a good deal of consolation from a contemplation of the part he had played in the constitutional development of the Empire. He will be sadly missed by his ministerial colleagues; by none more than by Mr. Mackenzie King, with whom he had been so closely associated for many years, for they were political companions in arms, on the hustings and in Parliament.

Out of Tune

LIBERTY MAGAZINE PUBLISHES AN editorial in its current issue which is presumably intended to teach Canadians how to think about our Russian ally and to what extent they should allow their minds to dwell on the meaning and portent of the philosophy of Premier Stalin. The article in question is headed "Our Obligation to the U.S.S.R." It begins with the admission that "there is no one among us who has not a new and deep and abiding admiration for Russia, the amazing courage of her fighting men and the unwavering devotion of her people," and then we are introduced to the argument. Here is part of it:

"But our respect and admiration for the people of the U.S.S.R. should not become our thinking. There has been a great deal of talk of late of the Empire's obligation to go to the aid of Russia at whatever the cost to herself. It is to such suggestions that we need to think clearly. There was an obligation on us to risk greatly to go to the aid of Norway. There was still more for going to the aid of Greece. They were people of our way of thought, and they were attacked because they held that way. We have no such obligation toward Russia. Admittedly the Russians are giving democracy and Britain and ourselves the greatest help we have had in this war. But they have become our allies only because a great compulsion has forced them. It is quite true that more Russians have died in this war than men of any other race, not excepting our own. But they have not died for democracy or the British Empire or Canada. They have died for Russia. Joseph Stalin and the creed he represents are as foreign to us as when he turned a deaf ear to us and joined hands with Hitler two years ago."

At that point Liberty's editorial tells us "there are people, informed people, who have urged that had Stalin's decision fallen the other way, there might have been no war." And while we agree with our weekly contemporary that it is difficult to believe such twaddle in the light of present knowledge, its following hypothesis has only relative merits:

"If Stalin had been interested in the success of the Allied cause, he might well have seen his moment when Germany was battering through the Low Countries, when the Maginot Line still held, and Britain and France stood facing the German hordes, still undefeated."

Harping on what might have been is usually unprofitable; but Liberty might ask itself what Stalin might have been persuaded to do if those in power in Great Britain and France two and a half years ago had felt less disposed to do Hitler's bidding than they were to offer Stalin sufficient inducement to win his entrance to the anti-Hitler bloc. The tragic sequence of British-French-Russian negotiations in Moscow in the spring of 1939 are too well known to need repetition here. However, says Liberty's editorial, "let us give the Russians every help that a gallant and devoted people are entitled to receive, when whatever their activating motive, they are helping our cause"; but "we must be rid of sentimental delusion . . . we must not . . . come to think lightly or disparagingly of our own political way of thought as compared to theirs."

Far be it from us to wade out into the depths of an ideological controversy. We leave that to the dogmatists. But when we are asked to consider "Our Obligation to the U.S.S.R." we are constrained to recall for Liberty's information that it was no less an important ecclesiastic than the Archbishop of York who said three months ago that he thought "Bolshevism preferable to Nazism, because its goal of universal fellowship is part of the Christian hope." Liberty's pseudo-Canadianized editorial for its Canadian edition is out of tune with majority Canadian thought.

The Royal Jubilee

WHEN BISHOP CRIDGE ESTABLISHED the first hospital in Victoria 80 years ago few who witnessed the opening ceremony had any conception of how local progress and the development in medical science one day would evolve the magnificent institution to which still another wing is officially to be added tomorrow. The plaque unveiled on Whitney's jewelry store last Sunday, however, is significant for two facts: It marks the sight of the original curative establishment that in 1858 prided itself on the possession of two beds. It provided Mrs. T. H. Laundry, a daughter of its founder, with the pleasant privilege of marking the occasion on behalf of the donors of the memento, the members of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Tomorrow's ceremonial, therefore, reminds us of the adage that big oaks from little acorns grow, as the vision and foresight of our pioneers in hospitalization have materialized into a thoroughly modern, splendidly-equipped institution of 440 beds. And as a city rapidly growing in size and destined to become increasingly important in the defence program, Victoria has need of the latest and best facilities for institutional treatment. This new addition and the impressive exercises that will mark its formal opening by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, should serve to focus anew the justifiable pride of its citizens in the Royal Jubilee Hospital and its long history of service to suffering humanity.

Man Makes the Clothes

MAYOR LAGUARDIA OF NEW YORK has been criticized by the Custom Cutters' Club on the ground that he does not measure up sartorially with their idea of what the well-dressed statesman should wear. The capable and dynamic chief magistrate has many achievements to his credit, but we do not think his best friend would argue for his dress, which we are told "is negligent sometimes to the point of sloppiness." In advancing the immaculate Grover Whalen as their ideal of how a public official should dress, however, the Cutters weakened their case, for Whalen is best known for his appearance. To dress well is a fine thing, and no one is the worse for appearing at his best. The ideal, however, is that clothes, like any package, should set off a product of proved merit. Any good product is improved by attractive packaging, but even a pretty package does not make mince pie out of black bread. If we were a New Yorker, we think we would be content to let LaGuardia run the city and let Whalen wear the clothes.

INNER MEANING

THE PHYSICAL FACTS of Washington are obvious enough—the crowding, the wild spending, the luxury, the packed bars and night clubs, the proliferating government offices on all sides, the inextricable tangle of boards, committees and various authorities which are always getting confused and overlapping one another. But what does all this mean permanently, after the war boom is over? What kind of a structure of government is the United States building for itself?

The basic theory of American government, up to March, 1933, when Mr. Roosevelt arrived in the White House, was that the less government you could have the better. Since then the United States has developed the largest fabric of government ever known upon the earth. It is called a government for war emergency. Thousands of men and women have been brought here to make the thing work—the best brains of the nation, working for one dollar a year and hordes of poor clerks, stenographers and negro laborers. Are they going home after the war?

If you knew the answer to that one you would know something pretty important. If you knew that the United States was going back to "normal" after the war, you would perhaps be able to plan your own life. But what is "normal"? Is it the norm of February, 1933, or the norm established by Mr. Roosevelt, beginning in March, 1933?

THE NEW DEAL

TO ANSWER that question recall what had happened here before the war. The New Deal had walked in and established itself. It was not a transitory phase. Whether it was wrong or not, whether it failed or not, it was here. The government had taken on functions such as it had never thought of touching before. These functions could not be dropped.

Then in the middle of it—while the New Deal had still failed to solve the economic riddle of America, failed to put the idle to work, failed to prime the pump—in the middle of all this came the war, and at once the New Deal started to work fine. It worked not by changing its course, but by going ahead faster in the same course. That course was more government control of everything and more expenditure of money. The war, in fact, has carried the New Deal to a kind of economic perfection, or will do shortly. Everybody is going to work. The pump at last is primed.

REVERSAL

THE QUESTION, then, is whether this process can be reversed after the war—whether the government can reduce its functions and spend less money without inviting a return to the Depression. It is my opinion it cannot, but that is just an opinion. The disquieting thing today is to find most Americans not thinking about it one way or the other. The experts are thinking. The financiers are thinking. Wall Street lies awake all night thinking. But the man on the street is taking the war boom as a matter of course, without looking much ahead. That is natural. America has lived perpetually on booms, with alternating depressions since the earliest days. It has never looked far ahead because, in a rich country, it never had to.

Now I am aware that all this speculation adds up to precisely nothing. It adds no jot to your wisdom. But if I cannot explain the true inner meaning and the future of Washington's present state of advanced giantism, it is hardly surprising. I have found no one in Washington who can explain it or predict its future. I have talked to some of the chief men of the nation, some of the men most responsible for building the machine. And they frankly do not know where it is going, whether it is going to be a servant after the war or a Frankenstein.

RUSSIA, 1941

"Bolshevists—breakers of faith, or breakers of chains, Builders and planners for life, or bringers of death?"

"Reds" as the author of ruin, or counter of gains, Spreaders of plague—or a new and beneficent breath? Such was the picture as seen from afar and discussed, Twisted or garish, interpreted that way or this—

Something in travail, a giant at work in the dust On labor of profit, or darkly and vilely amies.

"Such was the sowing and such the disputed seed; Now comes a harvest that silences wrath and dissent— Peasant and worker as one in the hour of their need, Spending their valor as never their valor was spent.

Russia united with hand to the lathe and the gun, Russia invaded and ravaged with merciless zeal, Russia the bearer of stroke after stroke from the Hun— A people fighting for life in a tangle of steel."

—LUCIO.

"I am very anxious to know," he said, "what you would say if I kissed you!" "If you were really curious," she replied, "you would know by now."

OCEAN CARGO BY AIR

From New York Times

Pan American clippers will begin ferrying freight across the Atlantic this month. The needs of war have stimulated this development, yet it is perhaps strange that the existence of slower though cheaper forms of transport should have retarded it so long. In the United States air express is already 14 years old.

Freight-carrying planes offer vital service in undeveloped country. In the sparsely settled northern half of Canada in the same period more tons are transported by skyway than in this country. In northern Siberia the development is even more striking. Where railways do not exist and water lanes are closed in winter the expense of transport by air loses much of its importance. But airline express rates are being rapidly reduced. There is no reason why planes cannot deliver freight as easily over the ocean as across land. With ships menaced by submarine attack the plane may be the more reliable carrier.

DRAMA

Before Noel Coward returned to England, there was much criticism about his mysterious missions abroad for the government. There was resentment of the fact that while Noel was off some where in Australia, or the States, they were at home submitting to bombardments. . . . A few months ago, when Coward returned to England, the Nazis delivered upon London one of the heaviest bombardments of the war. A friend of Coward's emerged from the quivering doors of the Savoy, and found Noel standing in the middle of the street. The Nazi bombs were shattering all around him. A few minutes earlier, his house and all his possessions had been demolished. But Noel remained there, in these dark moments whose cumulative power shriveled those months he had away. And he was glad, for he was part of England.

Fall leaves are so beautiful they seem almost as wonderful as those we colored in kindergarten.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Anyone Can Make It. Big Saving.
You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, and in just a moment, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it is hard to beat.
First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. No trouble at all. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.
Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make sixteen ounces of really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.
And for quick relief, it's splendid. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Princess Alice to Attend C.W.A.A.F. Graduation

OTTAWA (CP)—Princess Alice, honorary air commandant of the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force, will visit the C.W.A.A.F. training depot at Toronto on Nov. 29 to attend the first graduation of officers and noncommissioned officers.
Also in attendance will be Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche, Associate Deputy Minister of National War Services; Air Commodore J. A. Sully, Wing Commander D. E. Maclell, Wing Commander A. C. H. Maclean, together with Wing Officer L. L. Crowther of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force of Great Britain.

The graduation marks the conclusion of a five-week training course for 150 young Canadian women who will form the nucleus of officer and N.C.O. personnel. Following their graduation from the training depot, many will be retained there to act as an instructional staff, others will go to recruiting centres to handle C.W.A.A.F. enlistments, while the remainder will eventually take charge of the airwomen who have qualified in specific trades and are posted to R.C.A.F. stations.

George Cross for Heroine of Blitz

LONDON (CP)—Joan Daphne Mary Pearson, 29-year-old assistant section officer in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, has received from the King's hands the George Cross, it was disclosed today. She was the first woman to win the coveted award for gallantry which the King instituted in September, 1940, to honor heroes of the Battle of Britain.
The comely St. Ives, Cornwall, girl risked her life in May, 1940, to save the pilot of a blazing aircraft which crashed in a field near her quarters. She dragged the stunned pilot from the wreckage and was returning to help other trapped airmen when a bomb in the aircraft exploded. She flung herself over the injured pilot to protect him from splinters.
She received the award from the King at a recent investiture at Buckingham Palace.

Margaret Bondfield On U.S. Mission

WASHINGTON (AP)—Women are on the assembly lines of British factories to stay. Miss Margaret Bondfield, former British Minister of Labor, reported today, and women who have taken the places of skilled workmen are getting the same wages the men drew.
Miss Bondfield arrived recently at Boston. She is chairman of the women's group on public welfare and is here, she told a press conference at the British embassy, to tell the United States what British women workers are doing and what problems they are meeting.
In the skilled classifications the men have been guaranteed they will get their jobs back after the war, for the most part, and the women will have to step out. But she predicted women "are there to stay" in the mass production industries, and the difficulty will be to find places for men in this field.
The Presbyterian W.M.S. rally will be held in the lecture room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Friday, at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. F. R. Moore will give a report of the council meeting in Toronto, and delegates from up-island will be present. A social hour will be held after the rally, and refreshments will be served.

Social and Personal

Noncommissioned officers from the various services were the special guests when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward entertained this afternoon at a tea-dance at Government House, this being the second of the series of parties arranged by them in honor of the forces. About 200 guests were received in the drawing-room, where Miss Elizabeth Woodward assisted her parents, in a setting of chrysanthemums and other fall flowers. Similar flowers were banked in the ballroom, where dancing took place to the strains of the 14-piece R.C.A.F. orchestra from Patricia Bay. Tea was served in the dining-room, the table being centred with a lovely arrangement of chrysanthemums and lighted tapers in silver candelabra.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy A. Johnson and their daughter, Pamela, who arrived recently from Regina, Sask., to make their home here, have taken up residence at 1064 Beverly Place.

Mrs. W. L. Clay, Linden Avenue, has gone over to Vancouver on a visit and is staying with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Henderson, and with her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Ellis.

Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, president of the Local Council of Women; Dr. Olga Jardine, provincial president, and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, provincial secretary, have left for Vancouver to attend the executive meeting of the provincial council.

Mrs. Goldwyn Terry entertained at the tea hour Tuesday at her home, Deal Street, in compliment to Miss Valerie Kennedy-Smith, whose marriage will take place Saturday. Mrs. Stanley Haynes presided over the tea-table which was prettily decorated with an arrangement of autumn-hued chrysanthemums.

Miss Aileen Carr was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. A. Coleman, Doncaster Drive, Mrs. Coleman and Miss Grace Gibbons being joint hostesses. The bride-elect received a corsage bouquet of pink carnations, together with the many pretty-wrapped gifts. Mauve and white chrysanthemums were used throughout the rooms and on the table from which supper was served. Other guests included Mrs. G. Carr, Mrs. C. Peck, Mrs. R. Noble Jr., Mrs. F. McLaughlin, Mrs. A. Coleman, Mrs. A. Webb, Mrs. J. Scouler Jr., and the Misses Mollie and K. Mitchell and Margaret Carr.

Miss Winnifred Gardner entertained Monday evening at the home of her parents, 2035 Meadow Place, in honor of Miss Helen Hudson, a December bride-to-be. A decorated box resembling a large dahlia, with white streamers, led from a miniature water-lily can, concealed the gifts. Miss Anne Cameron, a tiny tot, assisted the bride-to-be with the gifts. Corsage bouquets were presented to Miss Gardner and her mother. Violin solos and pianoforte selections by Miss W. Gardner and Mrs. C. Badger, and community singing were enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Gardner, and Mesdames C. Badger, J. Cameron, F. Mowat, M. Vickers, Misses M. White, F. Greenway, L. Grant and J. Stillwell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Barnes, formerly Miss Louise Edmonds, have returned after spending their honeymoon up the island, and are resident on Springfield Avenue.

Miss Betty McMurray, daughter of Captain and Mrs. R. W. McMurray, Regent's Place, who has been visiting in Montreal for a few weeks, is en route home and will reach Vancouver on Saturday.

Mrs. Esson Young and her small son, David, who have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Cornish, West Vancouver, have returned to their home in Victoria.

Dr. and Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin returned to their home on Belmont Avenue yesterday afternoon from Seattle, where they attended the marriage Sunday of their younger son, William A. MacLaurin, to Miss Helen J. Goodwin.

Miss Dorothy Doidge, who will leave Sunday for Lethbridge, where she is to be married to Corp. Wm. C. Glendenning, R.C.A.F., was surprised by a number of her friends last evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. E. Doidge, 1857 Bowker Place. The affair took the form of a personal shower arranged by Mrs. V. Hanford and Mrs. L. Jackson, the bride-to-be receiving many dainty gifts. Others in the party included Mrs. A. Bell, Mrs. O. Matthews, Mrs. M. Curtin, Mrs. L. B. Sweet and the Misses Miriam Sutherland, Theresa Wragg, Olive Cogrover, Barbara Talbot and Verne Ferrier.

In compliment to Miss Margaret Howroyd, whose marriage to Mr. Newton Impett will take place Friday night, the Misses Isabel and Marnie Sullivan were hostesses at a delightful party Tuesday evening at their home, 1127 Richardson Street. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and pink rosebuds, and a bouquet of pink carnations was given her mother, Mrs. J. W. Howroyd. Many lovely gifts were concealed in a gaily-painted miniature house, and during the evening games were played, the winner being Miss Daphne Simmons. Later a buffet supper was served, Mrs. Howroyd presiding. The table, covered with a lace cloth, was centred with an attractive arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl lighted by white tapers in silver holders.

Fancy Dress Ball After Christmas

Plans are already under way for the annual children's fancy dress ball at the Empress Hotel Monday evening, Dec. 29. This party for the younger social set has been a red-letter evening in the Christmas holiday calendar for many years, being inaugurated during the last war by the Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., and carried on ever since, in aid of its patriotic and philanthropic work.
Mrs. J. L. Ford, the regent, is at the head of the various committees on arrangements, and tickets may be obtained off the chapter members or at the Empress Hotel.

St. Mary's senior afternoon branch W.A. will hold its corporate Communion Monday next, at 10.30.

Weddings

HARRISON—MANSON
VANCOUVER — Candlelight gleamed on the lustrous French satin gown of Katherine Marguerite, elder daughter of Hon. Mr. Justice and Mrs. Alexander M. Manson, when she became the bride of Mr. Godfrey Noel Harrison, R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay, son of Mrs. Harrison and the late Rev. E. R. Harrison, in a ceremony conducted in West Point Grey Presbyterian Church Monday evening. Rev. James Evans officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony.
The bride's wedding gown was fashioned with a shirred bodice, repeated at the wrists of the long sleeves. Her veil, held in place by a sweetheart coronet, cascaded into a long train, and she carried an all-white bouquet of roses and baby chrysanthemums.
She was attended by Miss Marion Manson as bridesmaid, wearing a full skirted gown of starlit hour blue, and carrying a bouquet of pale pink chrysanthemums and pink roses.
Mr. Peter Crickmay was best man, and ushers were: Mr. George Parsons, Mr. Alex. Manson and Lieut. Robert Hodge.
Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club.
For her honeymoon trip the bride wore a frock of soldier blue with a matching hat and topcoat trimmed with mink.
Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will reside at Patricia Bay.

EVANS—PARRY
A wedding of interest to their friends in Victoria took place on October 4 at Banff, Alta., between Miss Gwen Parry, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Parry, 401 Dunedin Street, Victoria, and Mr. Alex. Evans, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Evans, Victoria.
After a few months' residence in Vancouver the couple will make their home in Calgary.

MACLAURIN—GOODWIN
A Victorian was the bridegroom at a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon in Seattle when Helen Jeannette, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Goodwin, Hollis, New Hampshire, became the bride of Mr. William Alexander MacLaurin, younger son of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, 1632 Belmont Avenue. The bride wore a smart traveling suit of checked cinnamon and moss green wool, with a moss green hat, cinnamon accessories and a corsage bouquet of Tallianmar roses. There were no attendants.
An informal and charming reception was held in the evening at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Gerber, intimate friends of the bride's, on their houseboat on Lake Union. The novel and colorful Scandinavian decorations of the ship's interior were accented by bowls of golden and copper chrysanthemums. A delightful Smorgasbord supper of unusual Norwegian delicacies was served from a long hand-hewn refectory table centred with a handsome three-tiered cake which the bride cut after the usual toasts. Mrs. MacLaurin assisted in receiving the guests, who numbered about 50, wearing a Como rose crepe ensemble with black suede accessories and a corsage of white carnations.
Mrs. R. Pinzer, an intimate friend of the bride's, also welcomed the guests, choosing a wine sheer wool suit, with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.
After a honeymoon trip by motor to an unannounced destination, Mr. and Mrs. MacLaurin will make their home at 4142 Eleventh Avenue Northeast, Seattle. Mr. MacLaurin is an associate on the architectural faculty of the University of Washington.

Victoria Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met at the home of the director, Mrs. T. Hammond, 2717 Avebury Street, Monday evening, with 23 members in attendance. Mrs. F. Rough, president, presided over the meeting and interesting reports were submitted by the various committees. Mrs. Alex. Ward, reporting for the service committee, outlined the duties of the members in the War Savings campaign, and during the evening the necessary literature was distributed to the canvassers, who will commence this project immediately.

Letters received from sorority chapters in Vancouver and New Westminster, congratulating Zeta Chapter on its inauguration, were read by the corresponding secretary. Following the business meeting, a resume of the history of Beta Sigma Phi was given by Mrs. T. Hammond and Miss Marian Kersey, vice-president, conducted the assignment for the evening on sorority conduct. Mrs. Phyllis Alexander, a sorority sister from Brandon, was welcomed into the chapter for the duration of her visit in Victoria. The chapter was invited by Miss Barbara Dawson to hold a Christmas birthday party at her home Monday, Dec. 15. The next meeting will be held Dec. 8.

P.T.A. Activities

MONTEREY P.T.A.
Monterey P.T.A. met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Bell, president, in the chair. Mr. B. C. Gillie gave a most interesting talk on "Modern Techniques in Teaching," and helped all parents present to a better understanding of what the modern school was trying to do for the child. He told of changes within the last 15 years in both matter and method of presentation of the three R's so that the school life of the child might be linked more closely with the problems of later life.

A social evening was arranged for Dec. 9, when the association will invite 30 men of the forces to be their guests. Tickets are being sold and the funds raised will go toward buying comforts for ex-students of Monterey School now overseas.

Miss Margaret Shepherd, accompanied by Miss Phyllis Muggford, gave two songs and John Beckwith a piano solo. Refreshments were served.

SMARTLY UNIFORMED SOLDIERS of the Canadian Women's Army Corps are soon to have badges and insignia of rank as smart as any regiment of the Canadian Army. Volunteers of the Corps will wear the CWAC badge on the brown epaulettes, reproduced above in actual size, and officers will surmount this by insignia of their rank. Shown on the epaulettes is the insignia of a Chief Commander, the equivalent of Lieut.-Colonel. Maple leaves take the place of "pips" and the beaver is worn where a crown would mark similar rank in the army. Top right is the cap badge (all ranks), three maple leaves in white metal superimposed on gilt or brass lozenge. Centre, the helmeted head of "Athene" forms the design for the buttons of the uniform. Bottom, the collar badge combines the head of "Athene" and a scroll suspended by maple leaves, and bearing the letters "CWAC."

on the day his wealthy and elderly bride of a month was killed in Mexico.

Miss Bowen, now visiting here with relatives, was unaware of the 55-year-old doctor's marriage and honeymoon with another woman, the newspaper declared, until she read in San Francisco newspapers of his arrest in Monterey, Mexico, on charges of murdering his wife for financial gain.

The girl sailed from Honolulu November 7 in response to a marriage proposal made only a few months earlier by Torrance, the Chronicle said.

Miss Bowen, daughter of Alice Spalding Bowen, Honolulu artist, society hostess and descendant of one of Honolulu's long-established families, lived here in a hotel for five days waiting some word from Torrance, and then when she learned details from Monterey, went to the home of her aunt and uncle, Col. and Mrs. Manuel M. Garrett, said the paper.

Belgian Heroine Back in War Zone

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—The boundless determination of Europe's down-trodden little peoples is well typified by the calm courage of a middle-aged Belgian woman who sailed with the great armada carrying Canada's 5th Division to Britain.

Her "duty" is taking Frederique Ronge, 49-year-old ambulance driver, back to the war zone, where she served as a nurse in the First Great War and already has been under fire in the struggle against Hitler. She was wearing the uniform of the Belgian army's women's auxiliary and was assigned quarters with nursing sisters of a Canadian hospital unit. Just before sailing she told a reporter her story.

The outbreak of the war found her the wife of Col. Marcel Ronge, 54, commander of a Belgian artillery unit, and mother of two sons, Guy, 22, and Pierre, 20.

She volunteered for Red Cross work and her husband and sons went to the front.

CONDITIONS "AWFUL"
"It was awful," she said. Conditions were almost "impossible," ambulances were scarce and she converted her private automobile to that use.

When the German breakthrough came in May, 1940, she was driving four wounded soldiers to a hospital on the coast a few miles east of Dunkerque. She managed to leap a jump ahead of the German panzers and reached Paris and finally Lisbon. Meanwhile, her husband brought the scattered remnants of his unit, and his sons, safely to Dunkerque, and to England. He flew to a "reunion" in Lisbon and together they came to New York by clipper. There he has resumed his business life as an electrical engineer.

The sons remained in England as part of the nucleus and rallying point for Free Belgians—a remade Belgian army.

Saanich Will Take Garbage Referendum

When the people of Saanich go to the polls Dec. 13, they will vote on a proposed municipal garbage collection system. This was decided at a meeting of the Saanich Council, Tuesday night, where a motion was unanimously passed, authorizing a referendum to be put before the municipality, these wards voting in favor of a municipal garbage system to receive the service.

It will be paid for, if voted in, out of a direct tax on improved property in the ward favoring such an installation. The cost would be less than $4 annually for each improved property owner in Wards 2 and 7, and in the urban section of Ward 1. Collections would be made every 11 days.

Dissension among Saanich municipal employees was anticipated by the council should the recommendations of the board of arbitration, appointed by the Department of Labor under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, advocating increases in wages to approximately half the municipality's employees, be adopted. The report was read and tabled until the next meeting for more thorough discussion.

Council members were unanimous in their belief that raising the salaries of only half the employees would cause serious trouble. The decision of the board made a change in the wage schedule, but did not recommend cost-of-living bonuses.

Councillors said they were of the opinion that the investigation was to determine whether employees should receive a war-time bonus, and thought the decisions of the board were unfair because the rise in the cost of living affected everyone.

Senior Councillor L. C. Hagan presented the financial statement for the 10-month period ending October 31, reporting increased revenue in almost all cases and increased disbursements in few. Following are the highlights from his report:

The percentage of tax collections at Oct. 31 was 88.67 per cent, as compared with 87.13 per cent last year at that date. The total percentage estimated for the year was 89 per cent. This is the highest percentage since 1932.

The tax sale of Sept. 2 was one of the smallest in recent years. Property reversion to the municipality had dropped from $9,110.74 in 1936 to $1,526.16 this year. Cash on sales of reverted property to private ownership was more than double that of 1936. This year's figure was $22,962.09, compared with 1936's $11,002.29.

Collection of business licenses, dog taxes, permits and fees, road and poll tax, etc., amounted to $12,801.62, as compared with $11,187.27 last year.

Police court fines and fees rose from $83.75 in 1939 to $1,670 at October 31 this year.

Water sales totaled $96,638.11 this year, as compared with $38,856.52 last year. Rentals of property and sundry receipts increased from $1,450.26 last year to $3,441.97 this year.

Expenditure in the works department increased from $68,815.93 last year to $69,549.33 this year. It was estimated that unemployment relief expenditures would be less than estimated by nearly $1,000.

Hospitalization totaled $15,498.10 to October 31, total estimate for the year being $17,500.

"We are living up to the last nickel of the Hospital Act," said Councillor Hagan.

Expenditure for the newly-installed library service with the Victoria Public Library amounted to $2,500. 2,406 adult registrations and 753 juvenile registrations having been received.

The water department expended $5,413 for new meters and $18,596.08 for new works, all out of revenue for the year. Arrears in water accounts had been reduced to $11,341.16, lowest in recent years.

For the first time $3,000 had been set aside toward the retirement of the $16,013.85 relief loan made in 1935.

The net debt of the municipality was $261,992.97, much less, Councillor Hagan said, than opponents of the last water plebiscite attempted to make out.

A total of 716 building permits were issued during the last 10 months, totalling $1,017,628 in value. Included were 432 new dwellings valued at $955,520. Councillor Hagan pointed out that the increase in dwellings did not mean increased revenue without a corresponding outlay. There were 313 more school pupils in October of this year than there were one year ago, and at a net cost of $34 per pupil, made $10,642 additional. He urged all departments of the municipality to curtail any expenditure that was not absolutely necessary for the remainder of the year.

The first reading of the $350,000 waterworks by-law, which will go before the voters in the form of a referendum Dec. 13, was passed.

A letter from the Victoria Riding Academy, requesting cooperation towards bridge paths, was referred to next year's council. Three requests to subdivide lots were refused.

An invitation from the Jubilee Hospital, asking the reeve, council and their wives to attend the opening of the new central block and kitchens tomorrow, was accepted.

A letter from the R.C.A.F. answering correspondence from the council asking for repairs to the roads leading to the Patricia Bay airport, was tabled. The R.C.A.F. explained that the master of roads came under the jurisdiction of the Department of Transport, to which department the letter had been forwarded.

The roads had been damaged through the removal of gravel.

Want Local Station On National Hook-up

Officials of the Vancouver Island Broadcasting Company are making application to Ottawa asking that the Victoria radio station, CJVI, be added to the CBC's national network, Harold Husband, director of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, announced at a meeting, Tuesday.

This step would make Victoria's station the farthest west outlet of the national network and would assist in improving the programs of the station. Mr. Husband stated that no official action had been taken as yet by CBC, but it was hoped that in view of the new station management and new equipment, CJVI's request would be favorably received in Ottawa.

He stated that CJVI was now the dominant station in the lower Vancouver Island area and reception from it was clearer than Vancouver stations. He said, also, that Vancouver Island represented an entirely separate market.

Post-war Collaboration By British, French

OXFORD, Eng. (CP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Free French leader, told the Oxford University French Club Tuesday night that establishment of "more frank and solid collaboration than has ever yet existed between Britain and France" must be the first result of the war for the two countries.

Such collaboration, he said, is imposed by "the duty which is common to our two ancient great nations—salvation of civilization." "The events of the war have shown to what extent the security of France and England are interdependent."

Britons were never "more popular in France than at present," he said.

from the municipal gravel pits to the airport.

The resignation of John Reid from the position of building inspector was tabled until the next meeting.

Oak Bay Tories For Coalition

Oak Bay Conservatives, at a meeting in St. Mary's Hall this week, came out strongly in favor of coalition government for British Columbia and conscription of manpower and resources.

Herbert Anascomb, M.L.A.-elect for the new constituency of Oak Bay, gave a summary of the political situation. This was then discussed by members. Waldo Skillings reported on the Conservative meeting held earlier this month in Vancouver.

After debate regarding the government of the province, it was unanimously resolved that Oak Bay Conservative Association express a strong opinion in favor of the formation of a coalition government in British Columbia to more effectively carry on the business of the province and co-operate with the Dominion government in the prosecution of the war, thereby eliminating the expense, necessity and disquietude of another election.

The members reiterated their stand of June 9 on conscription and the following resolution was ordered to be sent to the proper authorities:

"Resolved that this association is unanimously in favor of conscription of manpower and resources in Canada for the prosecution of the war."

In the absence of the president, Brig. J. Sutherland Brown, who is indisposed, Gordon A. Cameron was in the chair.

"The weight seemed to go off my chest, I could breathe easily, and my cough loosened so the phlegm came up with no difficulty." ## Russia's Grim Stand— What's Behind It

(The following background on Russia's epic battle against Hitler's armored legions is by a Canadian-born journalist who spent five years in the Soviet and has spanned the world as a newspaper correspondent. In the First Great War he won the Military Cross in the Canadian Field Artillery in Flanders.)

By CARLETON J. KETCHUM
Russia's remarkable performance in her war with Germany has astounded the world. Two or three outstanding factors should be stressed in accounting for the formidability of her defence. The first is the fact that soon after the revolution and with the advent of the first formal Congress of the Soviets—the Parliament of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics now known as the Supreme Soviet—Russia adopted a system of compulsory military training for the entire population of the Union.

Under this system every youth reaching the age of 15 if graduated from high school and 19 if not was required to present himself for a period of military training and report regularly in the years thereafter—once or twice a year—in case he might be required for the regular standing army. This system created a vast reserve army, ranging in strength from 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 men.

Russia in the First Great War held Germany at bay for 3½ years with only 12,000,000 men. She entered that conflict entirely unprepared and with an extremely small army. Yet despite the fact that Germany had then a powerful navy at her disposal and Russia's capital of that day—St. Petersburg, later Petrograd and then Leningrad—stood at the mouth of the Neva River on the sea within easy striking distance from Germany, Russia's "steamroller" resisted every assault launched upon it until it was given the "cease fire" order by its high command led by the Czar.

THEN AND NOW

Russia's capital today is Moscow, many miles inland and so ringed round by fortifications that it has shown itself to be a capital city almost impregnable.

Russia apprehended the present war of revenge by Germany as far back as 1922 and in her earliest constitutions not only made provision for compulsory military training for all her young manhood but created a powerful standing army and air force which she equipped with all the most modern implements of war.

While France was building her Maginot Line designed, unsuccessfully, to render that country immune from a new invasion, Russia was building Stalin Lines, one after the other. Then in 1928 when she had accumulated financial resources sufficient to bear the burden of the cost she launched her first gigantic Five Year Industrialization Plan calculated to make the Union industrially independent of all outside nations within five years.

Under the provisions of the first and later of the second Five Year Industrialization Plan Russia created a formidable chain of factories; factories which produced airplanes, tanks, all calibers of heavy and light artillery, machine guns and even ships of war. These two Five Year plans, executed by virtue of a high tempo of production, to which millions of men and women contributed, gave Russia almost complete industrial independence by the summer of 1933. Thus the U.S.S.R. became in that year thoroughly competent to defend her territory of 8,000,000 square miles against any would-be invader.

STRENGTH OF UNITY

The complete unity of Russia's total population of 180,000,000 citizens is another factor to be stressed in explaining her achievements in this war. Until the revolution Russia knew a population divided by 150 nationalities; 150 different religions and more than 150 languages and dialects.

There is today universal compulsory education which means that every child by law must attend school for at least seven years. Education is given only in one language which means that all divisions of language have disappeared.

Those are the principal factors which explain why Russia has been able to hold back Hitler's hordes of steel-helmeted marauders. Stalin has at his disposal almost an unlimited reservoir of well-trained manpower. He commands an enormous industrial production machine which, augmented by the supplies now being rushed to him by Great Britain and the United States, will be able to serve the needs of his battling armies for an indefinite period in the future.

Snow, faithful ally of the Russian people throughout the ages, has now come to the aid of that gallant union of 180,000,000 people. Does history repeat itself, Will Hitler be compelled as Napoleon was compelled to acknowledge, Moscow as his nemesis? The next few weeks should furnish the answer to those two questions.

Pacific Picture: A Dark One for Japan

This map shows some of the reasons why Japan's Kurosu and Nomura have conferred long and earnestly with President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull. Prospect of war in the Pacific looks bad for militant Japan in the above pattern. Entirely encircled by probable enemies, she would be bottled up in one of history's most potent blockades. Action might begin on land, with a Japanese attack on Thailand, on British Burma or on China's lifeline, the Burma Road, as shown on inset map. Major decision, however, would likely involve fleets at sea and in the air.

How War Brings Out New Canadian Industries

Mercury in precision instruments being used by British and Canadian forces is being provided by one of Canada's newest industries. Prior to the war this country imported practically its entire supply of mercury, now it produces sufficient for all Canadian requirements and exports considerable quantities to Britain.

The development of mercury production is one phase of a general speed-up in many branches of Canadian mining and an intensified search for strategic metals required for war purposes.

Across Canada geologists from the department of mines and individual prospectors, encouraged by the government, are searching likely areas. The discovery of cinnabar, an ore of mercury, near Pinchi Lake, B.C., by a government geologist in 1937 opened the way for this new industry.

The deposit is now providing more than sufficient mercury to replace that previously imported from Italy and during the past summer a survey of the region disclosed an additional deposit 100 miles long and from eight to 10 miles wide.

NEEDED FOR ALLOYS

Antimony provides another example of recent development. Required for alloys in storage battery plates, bearing and babbit metals, rubber goods and paints it was almost entirely imported prior to 1938. An electrolytic plant erected at Trail, B.C., in that year provides more than sufficient to meet Canadian needs.

Canada's production of chromium, slumped following activity of the First Great War and has been small and irregular for the past 20 years. Main source of the metal is eastern Quebec and a mill with a daily capacity of 100 tons is now being erected there to boost the present production of a few tons a week.

A new mill under construction at Gowland Lake, N.B., for manganese production, will also have a capacity of 100 tons a day and surveys are being made to locate further deposits. Tonnages of this ore at present in sight are far from sufficient to meet the needs of Canada's steel industry.

TUNGSTEN IN GOLD

One of the most important war metals is tungsten, used chiefly as an alloy in the making of high-quality steel and cutting tools. Scheelite is the chief Canadian ore from which tungsten can be obtained and is found largely in gold-bearing veins, but seldom in quantities sufficient to be mined at a profit.

Gold mines in Ontario and Quebec, and even in such distant points as British Columbia and Mayo, Yukon, are shipping this ore to the mines and geology branch at Ottawa which has the only Canadian equipment to make high-grade scheelite concentrates from run-of-mine ore. None of the scheelite now being obtained from Canadian gold mines is being mined at a profit.

No tin was produced in Canada before the war but small quantities are now coming from Trail, B.C., as a by-product of lead-zinc-silver operations. Investigation is under way into Canada's supply of amber mica, required for the manufacture of aviation spark plugs.

Early barbarians considered olive oil so valuable that defeated tribes sent an olive tree to the opposition to signal a truce. In later times, just an olive branch was sent.

Winnipeg Bombers Leave for Final

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers, loaded with foot ball power for a starting team but lacking the reserve strength that helped them win the Canadian championship in 1935 and 1939, entrained for the east Tuesday night. They meet Ottawa's eastern titleholders, the Rough Riders, in Toronto Saturday with the Grey Cup at stake.

Coach Reg Threlfall led his 25 players eastward to climax a gruelling season in which Bombers won 10 games and lost six. They have scored 166 points to their opposition's 143 and their competition included one of the best teams on the continent, Columbus Bulls, American Professional League champions.

Winning a fifth consecutive western title, Bombers took nine of their 11 games with western Canada teams, dropping 9 to 0 and 8 to 6 decisions to Regina Roughriders, whom they defeated two games to one in the Western Interprovincial Union final. The Union final cost services of Bombers' versatile halfback, Art Stevenson, who suffered a knee injury. Manager Joe Ryan says Stevenson, who won the Western Union scoring title with 29 points, will not play Saturday.

'Science and Life'*Victorian's Book Wins Warm Praise

H. O. English, Victoria Normal School, with the co-operation of T. B. Edwards and D. M. Plather, Britannia High School, Vancouver, presents a new and interesting approach to science as it affects life in their book, "Science and Life," published by J. M. Dent and Sons, Vancouver.

The volume is winning general commendation from educationists interested in this particular subject, which, incidentally, touches virtually every person exposed to 20th century living.

Written primarily as a textbook, it offers study opportunities to high school pupils who have already completed one year in the subject.

The authors, according to the preface, "are conscious of the definite and steady trend away from the subject-centred curriculum and towards a social-centred curriculum. In view of this trend, they have thought it advisable to select, for consideration, problems which have an important bearing on some aspect of the life of the community, and to draw upon each branch of science as much as was required to achieve satisfactory solutions. In order to solve such typical life problems it has been necessary to clarify the relationship between the various branches of science, and, through integration, to eliminate the 'mystery' which formerly cloaked those branches which were not studied."

Divided into five units, the book discusses respectively chemical change, energy, hydrosphere, metals, and plants and animals.

A total of 480 photos and drawings, ranging from a photographer's flashlight bulb to a massive dam, from a saxophone to a modern airplane, illustrate the volume which is written easily and understandably, to be followed by youth or to be studied intensively by a student.

The work, in the opinion of H. I. Campbell, Victoria municipal school inspector, "is a good book, written in an interesting style and completely in accord with the new program of studies."

"It is a book prescribed to be used by pupils and teachers as a reference for grade 10 science."

"The scientific aspects of civilization loom large today. The book makes an attempt to prepare pupils for living in a scientific age."

E. S. Archibald, Ottawa, director of experimental farm services for Canada, has the following comment to make on the book: "This is an amazingly good textbook and is worthy of adoption by all the provinces. The authors are to be commended for some of their statements regarding the organic matter of soils. They are correct and very forceful."

Halifax Rebuffed Bedford in 1940

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden disclosed in the House of Commons today that Viscount Halifax "received a number of letters in 1940" from the Duke of Bedford "urging the desirability of opening negotiations with the German government for a peace settlement."

Lord Halifax, now ambassador to the United States but then Foreign Secretary, rejected the suggestion, Mr. Eden said. "The reply of Lord Halifax," he told the House, "made it clear . . . that there was, in his view, no possibility for a compromise peace with Hitler."

The Duke of Bedford, whose peace efforts have been sharply criticized in Parliament recently, made a trip to Dublin in 1940 on his own initiative to discuss peace possibilities with German government representatives in the legation there.

SALT SPRING

The Musgraves, South Salt Spring Island branch of the Red Cross, which contributes several times annually to the Ganges unit of Red Cross, has forwarded through Mrs. Frank Smith the sum of $215.40, also one dozen pillow cases and one dozen towels. In response to the appeal for the blanket fund the treasurer of Ganges unit has now on hand $28 subscribed by local residents.

'Worthless' Canada

Victorious England at the end of the French and Indian wars in 1760 wanted to claim the tiny island of Guadeloupe in the West Indies with an area of 688 square miles instead of "worthless" Canada with its area of 3,684,723 square miles. Guadeloupe had rich sugar plantations then while Canada was relatively undeveloped.

Hospital to Open $150,000 Wing Thursday

New Wing Increases Bed Capacity to 450

With the cutting of a red, white and blue ribbon strung across the main entrance, Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward, at 3 on Thursday, will officially open and dedicate the new wing of the Jubilee Hospital.

Total cost of the new wing and improvements to facilities in the old building is more than $150,000. Work has been going on for almost a year now.

Although the new wing only increases the number of beds from 400 to 450, equipment and accommodation have been greatly expanded and improved. The whole plan of the hospital has been changed from the old pavilion-type to the new central block style of structure.

The ground floor of the new wing is now occupied by the centralized administrative office, admitting office, social welfare office, business manager and secretary's office. In addition to the emergency treatment rooms for handling accident cases.

EMERGENCY WARD

All ambulance cases will now be received at a special entrance close to the emergency ward. The emergency treatment rooms are equipped to handle everything but a major operation.

The old central block has been remodeled to provide offices for the superintendent, Dr. T. W. Walker, director of nurses, Miss E. Mitchell, board of directors' room, medical library and medical records department.

Gone are the old wards at the hospital. The women's surgical ward, transferred from the one long room in the old pavilion type hospital to "second floor centre" in the new wing, has many innovations and improvements. The ward is brightly furnished, and each bed divided off with heavy linen curtains for privacy. This gives "private room efficiency when the need arises.

Situated on the second floor also is the nurses' sick bay, which is at the extreme north end of the wing. Formerly sick nurses were located in various parts of the hospital. Now they are given a special sick bay of their own.

Another innovation is the recovery room for patients who have undergone anaesthetics. The room is equipped to accommodate three beds and enables one nurse to tend to the patients.

Eight small wards are located on this floor. None of them exceeds four-bed accommodation.

Other rooms include a supervisor's office, bath rooms and lavatories, utility kitchen and a well-equipped chart room with prescription cabinet and chart racks.

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT

The children's department has been moved to the third floor of the new wing, the old children's department being used as part of the kitchen. Equipped with its own treatment room, a recovery ward to guard against infection or contagion, tonsil nursery and medical and surgical wards, the department is one of the most modern of its kind in western Canada.

Apart from the medical and surgical wards and the nursery, there are on this floor linen cupboards, utility room utensil sterilizing department and specially constructed blanket warming room.

In all wards each bed is kept separate from the others by glass divisions, which keep the rooms

The Royal Jubilee Hospital, with the completion of the new wing, now has accommodation for 450 beds. Not only have many departments been moved into the new wing, but with the increasing of space, offices and equipment in the old sections have been expanded.

Now housed in the new wing are the administrative offices, women's medical and surgical wards, children's ward, nurses' sick bay and the staff dining-room. The kitchen in the old wing has been completely modernized.

light yet at the same time give maximum privacy.

The fourth floor of the new wing of the hospital has been given over entirely to maternity cases. Nine semi-private rooms and one single room are provided for on this floor, increasing the accommodation in the maternity department to 53 beds.

The addition to the maternity ward in the new wing meets a great need for semi-private rooms. There has been more ward and private room accommodation than was necessary, but not enough semi-private room accommodation.

With individual cupboards, private bedside lockers, extension tables and adjustable beds, the semi-private rooms are nicely furnished.

To take care of the semi-private room patients, there is a supplementary nursery in the new wing.

AGAINST AIR RAIDS

A reserve water supply system, a safeguard against damage to the main water supply by air raid, has been incorporated in the plumbing system of the new hospital wing. During the war the water tanks will be used constantly so that when the emergency arises fresh water will be available.

At the present time the maintenance department of the hospital is installing two large tanks of 15,000 gallons capacity each. The total of 30,000 should, with proper conservation, keep the hospital supplied for approximately 48 hours, during which time repairs could be effected to any broken water mains.

The tanks are being installed underground as a safeguard against bombing. When in use the water will be fed through the hospital supply system from a pumping station in the hospital.

It is also planned to install an emergency power plant capable of producing from 100 to 150 kilowatts, which will be adequate to take care of all lighting, including the operating rooms, laundry, cold storage and other power-using units of the hospital. This electric plant also would provide power for the pumps to supply the hospital with water from the underground mains.

Business Office Now in New Wing

Nerve centre of a hospital, the administrative offices of the Jubilee Hospital are now on the main floor of the new wing. They are situated near the public entrance opposite the social welfare department.

Feature of this office is the cost accounting machinery, with which it is possible for the directors of the institution to determine just what each service of the hospital is costing. Making possible a higher degree of efficiency and economy, the cost accounting system has been adopted by only a few Canadian hospitals.

Near the business department is the office of the secretary, who also is the business manager and purchasing agent. In these larger quarters it is possible to have all the files at hand.

With the building of the new wing of the hospital many changes have been made in the old wing. A more up-to-date telephone exchange has been installed. Better provisions have been made for the inquiry office, executive office for Dr. T. W. Walker, the superintendent, boardroom, medical library and records department.

The kitchen having been moved to the new quarters, the records, now stored under the Strathcona ward, will be transferred to the basement of the central block, and access to them will be available by a corridor leading from the new administrative centre.

Tuberculosis Work

Greatly assisting in the treatment of tuberculosis at the Jubilee Hospital has been the installation in the T.B. Pavilion by the provincial government of additional equipment which now makes it possible to have chest surgery and dentistry, nose and throat work.

A total of 89 patients were admitted to this department last year and during the year 75 cases were discharged. The number of patient-days amounted to 13,989. Pneumothorax treatments totaled 1,000, while 1,385 first examinations were made, followed by 1,277 repeat examinations.

Ward Space, Kitchen Facilities Expanded

Improvements, New Equipment Make Kitchens Up-to-date

One of the most outstanding improvements made by the building of the new Jubilee Hospital wing has been the centralization of the food preparation and kitchen facilities in what used to be the old children's ward. The children's department is now located on the third floor of the new wing.

A new stores warehouse is being constructed which with the old storesroom will provide increased space. Adjoining the storesroom is the butcher shop, equipped with meat chopping block, scales, power-driven mincing machine, fish sinks and cold storage cabinet having a capacity of 1,100 cubic feet. The butcher's room and the cold storage room are all drained for flushing and finished in white enamel and white tiling.

Next to the butcher shop is the vegetable preparation room, which also is equipped with refrigeration room, and has a capacity of 1,100 cubic feet. Here the equipment comprises two maple salad tables, monel metal vegetable hopper, vegetable sink, potato peeling machine, apple peeling machine, potato chopper and bag racks for vegetables. As in the butcher room and storage department these rooms are drained for flushing and the walls finished in white enamel and white tile.

Also adjacent to the storesroom is the soaproom, where members of the staff manufacture liquid linseed soap with a steam-operated soap boiler, to effect economy and obtain the finest supply of soap.

From the food preparation centre an elevator carries the prepared food to the cooking centre. The main kitchen is entirely apart from the main hospital structure. It is 60 feet by 24 feet, with skylights and windows. All flooring is monolithic and the walls are finished in white enamel.

In the centre of the main kitchen is situated the steam-cooking equipment. Four 40-gallon boilers and one 80-gallon boiler stand on a tiled recess which can be flushed down after each meal period. Nearby is a three-decker steam pressure cooker.

Other equipment includes the three-oven gas range, flanked on either side with deep fat fryers, a steam heating table, three feet by nine feet; another steam table, a 25-kilowatt bake oven of the two-deck type, two mixing machines and automatic gas toaster which toasts 400 slices of bread per hour. The large bakers' table is equipped with metal bins and drawers.

Kitchen refrigeration equipment consists of two chambers, one 128 cubic feet capacity and the other 220 cubic feet.

The diet kitchen, like the main kitchen, is equipped with a three-oven gas range, monel metal sink and drain board and steam cooking equipment and tables. It has a 128-cubic-foot refrigerating room.

DIET KITCHEN

Electrically-heated food wagons are used to carry the food from the kitchens to the patients. Ten in number, these wagons are filled with supplies from the main kitchen and the diet meals.

The babies' formula room is located near the diet kitchen and is equipped with a high-pressure sterilizer, refrigerator, formula charts and sinks.

Off the main kitchen in what was formerly the women's medical ward is the nursing staff dining hall, with chairs for 163 nurses. This room is 50 feet square and may be used as an auditorium.

This modern kitchen is a tribute to the discernment of the superintendent, Dr. T. W. Walker, who has studied the hospital's requirements and incorporated improvements that have taken place in this field of hospital activity.

Situated on the ground floor near the main public entrance, the general business office, shown above, is one of the most modern in a Canadian hospital. Equipped for speedy and efficient handling of the large volume of business connected with the hospital, the administrative rooms now house up-to-date cost accounting machinery, vital to the operation of an institution of this kind.

Whitewashed Hut First Hospital

Since the founding of the Royal Jubilee Hospital 80 years ago there have been many advancements and improvements in medical and hospital science. The building of the new hospital wing along with the renovation of the old wing has brought the Jubilee Hospital facilities and equipment up to the standards demanded by modern medical science.

Bishop Cridge was the man who first visualized a hospital in Victoria. He had often thought of such an institution, and when a sick Indian was literally left on his doorstep he put his thoughts into action and quickly organized a committee, which set about to establish a hospital.

The first institution was a small, whitewashed cottage at the corner of Broad and Yates Street, where now is located the firm of J. M. Whitney, jeweler.

beds. The sanitary arrangements were far from what they are today, while such departments as radiology, pathology, physiotherapy and diet kitchens had not been heard of. There was a total lack of operating-room facilities.

As the years passed these facilities were secured as medical science advanced. The progress that has been made since then is seen by contrasting the small, whitewashed cottage with its one nurse and few beds with the institution today, with its accommodation for 450 patients, its operating-rooms, treatment-rooms, X-ray department, laboratories, pharmacy, maternity floor, children's wards, nurses' home and 101 other departments that now go to make up a modern hospital.

BUILT IN JUBILEE YEAR

It was in the jubilee year of Queen Victoria's reign that the Royal Jubilee Hospital was established on its present site. In those days the French-pavilion style hospital was thought to be the ideal type of building and the institution was developed along those lines.

In 1925, however, the east wing was built to provide more accommodation and bring the institution into line with more modern requirements. The new wing to be opened on Thursday afternoon is a further development of this scheme, and is a tribute to the study that has been given to the hospital requirements by Dr. T. L. Walker, superintendent, who has carried out so many improvements to the institution during the past several years.

The new wing connects with the east wing and the central block, which is now entirely administrative. Ultimately the plan for development is to complete a structure that will be "U" shaped. As space is released in the old buildings, this space is being remodelled and utilized for MISS LENA MITCHELL, R.N. Under the supervision of Miss Mitchell comes the nursing staff of the Royal Jubilee Hospital. She is aided by a competent staff of supervisors, who in turn direct their own departments, being responsible to Miss Mitchell for the efficiency of those departments. Miss Mitchell has seen long service with the Jubilee Hospital, having been a supervisor on the staff before being promoted to the post of assistant director of nurses and later director. She has been with the institution for more than 20 years, and during that time has given valuable advice relating to nursing matters. She is held in high esteem by all her workers, and her ability is highly regarded by the board of directors.

Located on the third floor of the new hospital wing, the children's department is now made up of several bright, modern six-bed wards, one of which is shown above. There is also a supplementary nursery in the new wing to take care of the semiprivate-room patients. The old children's department now houses part of the kitchen.

Clubs, Citizens Support Hospital

Development and administration of the Royal Jubilee Hospital rests in the hands of public spirited citizens who give voluntarily of their time without thought of remuneration. This has been the case throughout the history of this institution, which has been fortunate in having not only a very active board of directors, but hardworking auxiliary organizations and other bodies, which support the work of the institution.

Alderman John Worthington, who has been on the hospital board for many years and rendered invaluable service during that time, has been honored with the post of president this year, while E. W. McMullin has been elected vice-president. J. Vaughan Roberts remains as honorary treasurer, a post he has filled for more than a decade, while D. D. Muir is secretary.

The directors, apart from the officers already named, are as follows:

J. VAUGHAN ROBERTS

ALD. JOHN WORTHINGTON

D. D. MUIR

As president, treasurer and secretary of the board of directors, these three men have played a big part in building of the new hospital wing. Alderman Worthington, centre, president of the board, has a long record of public service behind him, having served for nearly 14 years on the city council and in that connection on many boards and committees. Mr. Roberts, left, has held the post of honorary treasurer of the board of directors of the hospital for more than two decades. During the 18 years which Mr. Muir, right, has been secretary of the board of directors he has seen many changes take place in the Jubilee Hospital. The co-ordination of administrative departments into one central unit has long been his desire.

follows: Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. E. Sheppard, Judge H. H. Shandley, Reeve A. Lockley, Reeve Passmore, H. G. Heisterman, Charles S. Henley, W. H. Johnston, Charles Williams, F. E. Winslow, Dr. A. B. Nash, Dr. R. B. Robertson, Dr. Lucas, E. E. Henderson and H. Stevens.

Organizations assisting in the hospital work are as follows: Senior women's auxiliary, Junior Women's Auxiliary, Daughters of Pity, Jubilee Hospital Alumnae, Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., Victoria Women's Institute, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Canadian Club, Women's Canadian Club, Kinsmen Club and Gyro Club.

The hospital is also fortunate in having a long list of individual supporters, all of whom assist the institution either through subscription or by their own untiring efforts.

Prescriptions

During 1940 the modern pharmacy of the Jubilee Hospital dispensed nearly 30,000 prescriptions. The daily average is 79.2, which is higher than in 1939. This increase has been caused by the increase in hospital population.

Anticipating certain shortages, those in charge of the pharmacy were able to lay in a supply of essential drugs to meet emergent conditions.

New Wing Will Meet Increase of Patients

The magnitude of the work undertaken by the Royal Jubilee Hospital is shown in the 1940 annual report. The report reveals that 6,404 patients were admitted to the hospital last year as compared with 5,641 in 1939. Expansion of facilities in the new wing will help to accommodate the greater number of patients.

The number of hospital days treatment amounted to 106,350, as compared with 97,460 in 1939. Through improvements made in the hospital service it was possible during 1940 to further cut down the average days' stay per patient to 14.5 days as compared with 15 days in 1939.

The peak month for the hospital was last December, when occupancy by patients reached 91 per cent of capacity, exclusive of the services rendered to the armed forces.

During the last year a total of 762 major operations were performed, compared with 576 in the previous year. This was due largely to the increase in the population of greater Victoria rather than an increase in illness.

The number of minor operations likewise showed a marked increase, the figure for 1940 being 1,607, as compared with 1,498 in 1939. General anaesthetics were administered 1,906 times.

MEDICAL CASES

Further evidence of the increased demands on the hospital facilities is contained in the figures on medical cases. Whereas in 1939 there were 2,983 medical cases, the number rose to 3,708 last year. The number of consultations likewise rose to 2,540, as against 1,490 in 1939.

In all 3,109 patients were discharged last year as compared with 2,540 in 1939. Improvement was recorded in 2,262 cases, while the unimproved numbered 194.

The number of deaths showed a marked decrease, despite the big increase in the number of operations, treatments and medical cases. Deaths for the year 1940 amounted to 319, as against 336 in 1939.

Statistics of cases handled by the various departments within the hospital also show the increased service rendered by the hospital.

Classification of the work is given as follows: Medical, 3,708 cases; T.B. 124, obstetrics 526, twins 4 and surgery 1,977, making a total of 6,339.

The results are listed as follows: Cured 3,109, improved 2,262, not treated 83, in for examination 366, deaths 319, stillborn 7; total 6,339.

CANCER CASES

In connection with cancer cases it is interesting to note that out of a total of 174 patients treated, only 22 operations were performed, and the number of deaths out of this total amounted to 9.

Last year intravenous fluids prepared numbered 3,448, while the number of blood transfusions administered amounted to 350. In all a total of 3,909 intravenous medications were handled in 1940.

Some conception of the magnitude of the work carried on by the Louisa Todd Memorial Department of Radiology can be gained from the statistics contained in the last annual report. In the radiological section a total of 54 radium treatments were given; 5,179 deep therapy and 6,879 radiographic and fluorographic examinations were made.

In the physiotherapeutic section statistics reveal the following treatments: Ultra violet, 931; ionization, 89; kromar, 136; massage, 954; exercises, 513; pavaex, 402; electrocardiograms, 322; infra red, 1,058; diathermy, 5; inductotherm, 2,629; faradism, 49; and surgical diathermy, 9.

SERVICES TO MEN IN FORCES

A great deal of the increase in this work has been due to the services rendered officers and men of the three armed services.

Some idea of the increase of work handled by the hospital is shown in the report of the pathology laboratories. The number of examinations conducted during the last decade has increased by 229 per cent, while public health examination has increased by 347 per cent.

In all, the pathological department handled 43,070 examinations last year, of which 23,067 were public health examinations. The heaviest single type of examination, apart from urinalysis, was for T.B. These totaled 4,590. Blood chemistry, blood counts, gastric analysis, milk analysis and agglutinations accounted for other high totals among the 21 different types of examinations.

DR. T. W. WALKER

Many of the improvements incorporated in the new wing of the hospital have been the result of careful study conducted by Dr. T. W. Walker, hospital superintendent. He has studied the requirements of the hospital in relation to the advancement of medical and nursing science. The innovations and improvements carried out in the Jubilee Hospital during the past years are a tribute to the knowledge that Dr. Walker has brought to bear upon the institution's activities.

Prime Minister of a united nation on the strategic front; he wages it as the leader of the Conservative party on the economic front. To this must be added, I suspect, that there is a grim, ugly section of American business only too ready to use the international position—as the debate on repeal showed—to strike at labor gains in the New Deal; economic realism never sleeps. And it is disturbing to note that despite all the eulogies heaped on the Soviet Union for the superb heroism of its people there is a singularly little discussion outside of Socialist circles of ways of reaching a permanent modus vivendi among the United States, the British Empire and the U.S.S.R. that will be essential after the war.

British opinion in the present phase of the conflict is, I think, divisible into a number of groups. Though everyone agrees this must be the final aggression by Germany, the ways of securing finality are far from agreed upon. Mr. Churchill's mind presently does not think beyond our victory; he leaves the future to itself.

COMMON PEACE AIMS

Conservative opinion is divided into sectors—one, mainly influenced by the city, which thinks that on the whole if we are careful we can get back to the world of 1939, and the other convinced there will be changes of considerable size and anxious that they should be made by common consent.

On the labor side, it is universally thought that the prewar age belongs to the lumber room of history; the differences begin upon the point of when the decisive transformation is to start. The main drift of labor opinion is that it cannot start too soon; the postponement will mean differences after the war that will be difficult to bridge. A lesser current of thought, though one with a good deal of backing in governmental circles, is that the changes must wait till victory, but that they must then be bold and swift.

Here, obviously, are the seeds of great dangers which will arise when we approach victory are, first, the absence of a common set of principles between the two major democratic partners, and second, the absence of a common set of principles within each of them. Unless we have got these by the time we have to set about the reorganization of Europe, our joint power to secure a swift recovery in a democratic way will be gravely impaired. To follow the savagery of war by a peace that is another name for chaos would be indefensible.

MUST UNDERSTAND WAR

Now if this is to be avoided the task of all of us is to understand what this war is about. I think President Roosevelt understands it; the implications of his message to Congress of January 22, 1941, make that clear. I think Stalin understands it. Mr. Churchill seems to me to have grasped it negatively rather than positively. He is sure that Hitlerism destroys national freedom and independence; he does not yet see why it seeks to destroy them. He does not see that because he has not yet grasped the pivotal fact that Hitler is the chosen executioner of the counter-revolution, that the forces behind him seek to prevent a new society from being born. Until he grasps this central truth our military victory will not be a social victory; and unless it becomes a social victory, a world order compatible with enduring peace will not be attained.

In the next five or six months in this country the issues which underlie this difference are certain to come into the foreground. Mr. Churchill is going to learn, in part from the Labor party and in part from the masses of people, that the building of those conditions upon which expanding welfare depends is a war aim no less than a peace aim. Once he has grasped that—he has the insight to grasp it—we have the means in our hands for a spiritual and material renovation of Europe. But he cannot do so too soon.

Allies Need Common Aims For Rebuilding Europe

By HAROLD J. LASKI
British author and professor of political science at London University
Copyright, 1941

LONDON (By Wire)—Repeal of the Neutrality Act naturally enough has been received here with feelings of deep satisfaction, for it is felt that at least the rulers of Hitler Germany and their allies now know definitely the full risks to which their policy has committed them. Repeal has not bred complacency, and I add with emphasis that no one to whom I have spoken has expressed the hope that it means American intervention. Its value is the quickening material aid that it implies on the one hand and in the psychological impact it will make the world over on the other side. Hitler and his gang have come to their February, 1917; they now have to choose its consequences.

There is, I think, a growing confidence among us all that we are slowly passing to a stage where we can begin to see the approach of a new period in the war. Mr. Churchill's momentous pronouncement that the R.A.F. is now equal in strength to the Luftwaffe; the immense blow our navy struck against the Italians in the Mediterranean; the superb tenacity of the Russian resistance which has thrown Hitler's timetable all awry; the slow, but, I think, sure progress toward success in the Battle of the Atlantic; all these things provide a basis of hope that is ever more secure in its substance.

INVASION LIKELY

I do not mean that we have not a long struggle ahead; I fear we have. I suspect the growing difficulties of Hitler's position may force him, before six months have passed, to the last desperate gamble of invasion of Britain. But whatever the price we will have to pay for victory, we begin to feel an inner serenity about it that we have not yet been able to feel. Clumsily, inadequately, but still certainly, the superior resources of the democracies are beginning to be mobilized. Ever more clearly, it is increasingly apparent that the will of none of them can be broken.

The spectacle begins to revive hope in the occupied territories. It is a faint hope yet, but it is real. The trickle of this year will have become the mighty stream within the twelve-month.

All this, in my own judgment, makes it even more urgent for us to consider and to discuss with full democratic publicity what the victory is to be for. The danger is real that the Nazi collapse, when it does come, will be a very sudden one, moving swiftly to a climax, and unless we have made up our minds—we as well as you and the Soviet Union—upon a common program for the use of victory, the post-war period may easily be one of disillusion and frustration.

There are things which point in that direction. While there are few to accept Mr. Shinwell's (Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite M.P.) criticism of the Prime Minister's strategic conception of the war, there are many who agree with him that the organization of the economic front is unimaginative and inadequate, and there are few serious students who know our propaganda effort from within who would not use the two adjectives to describe it.

Mr. Churchill wages war as the

Lost 40 Pounds In Wanderings

Condition of Andrew Thompson, who was found in the bush near Jordan River Tuesday after wandering around for 10 days without food or drink, was said to be unchanged by Jubilee Hospital authorities today. Thompson was found in a state of physical exhaustion by employees of the Island Logging Company Ltd.

Thompson, who roomed at 1142 Yates Street, had the urge to walk and kept on walking for 10 days, he told provincial police. Between 45 and 50 years of age, slight of stature, he lost about 40 pounds during his wandering. Hospital attendants said his feet were in bad condition and he may have a touch of pneumonia. He is suffering from severe frostbite.

Thompson was found Tuesday morning. Provincial police were summoned, and after an examination by Dr. J. Brown at Jordan River, he was rushed to Jubilee Hospital by C. C. ambulance. He is being attended by Dr. E. W. Boak.

Quiet in manner, Thompson seldom spoke to his fellow lodgers. It is known he has been employed as a carpenter at Patricia Bay airport. He has been particularly reticent since the death of his sister in Vancouver not long ago.

The personal advantages of War Savings Certificates warrant more consideration in the smaller income budget. Starting out as a worker in the present War Savings Campaign, I have looked closer into these advantages myself. First of all, one receives interest at 3 per cent. The matter has nothing to do with the fact that one has bought war bonds. The war bond is just part of one's investment portfolio—same as any other first grade bond. Savings are part of the household budget, acquired by eliminating what can be done without.

What Democracy Means

Speech delivered by Harold M. Diggon, Victoria, chairman of Kiwanis affairs committee for Canada at the Kiwanis Chicago conference of executives of 29 United States and Canadian districts. The speech made such an impression on the council that it was decided to have it printed and sent to the 2,115 clubs on the American continent.

HAROLD M. DIGGON

Public affairs in Canada and in the United States bear a close relationship. The peoples of both nations speak a common language. In their aspirations they have much in common. In their estimate of moral values, the same holds true. And both profess a belief in the efficacy of the political philosophy which we call democracy.

For Canadians at the present time the paramount public affair is the war. We have not only organized our industries on a full war basis, but thousands of our men—yes, and women, too—are active participants in the struggle. We, through our government, have imposed upon ourselves unusual restrictions to the end that, as far as possible, our war effort demands the greatest contribution within our power to make. At the same time, we are so ordering our domestic affairs that such restrictive regulations will not work undue hardship on any section of the population.

Our people are making big sacrifices, and making them cheerfully. They will be called upon to make even greater. In that regard, they cherish no illusions.

FAMILY OF FREE PEOPLES
It should be borne in mind that Canada's relation to Britain is not that of a mere ally, in the sense that Japan is an ally of Germany. She is a full-fledged member of that family of free peoples known as the British Commonwealth. That is why she is right in the thick of the fight. She could not be otherwise without being guilty of disloyalty to the other members of the family and to the motherland which gave her birth.

May I, at this juncture, say how devoutly thankful we, in Canada, are that the people of the United States have thrown the whole weight of their material and industrial resources at the disposal of the freedom-loving peoples of the world. And it is added cause for thankfulness that we have to the south of us so generous and powerful an ally.

Freedom is at stake; it must be maintained, at whatever cost. Although Canada's contribution to the war effort has assumed, for a country of her limited population, gigantic proportions, yet many of her people believe that she could do much more.

They believe that more could be achieved if our citizens as a whole were more alive to the gravity of the situation. They are also of the opinion that a more highly developed national unity of purpose, fortified by a stronger sense of individual responsibility, is absolutely essential at this time. In view of which, they believe that contention over sectional differences, futile bickering over ideologies and capricious criticisms of national leaders should be discontinued.

Therefore, the Kiwanis committee on public affairs for Canada has recommended as its main policy: "An all-out measure of support for a unified war effort." Under the same head other related objectives are included, among them a campaign for conservation and against waste. Particular emphasis is also laid on the importance of home life and its influence on national life and conduct.

We must build character, the will to sacrifice. The home is the first line of defence. Homes are the cement of national life, the place where the nation learns how to live together. It has been truly said that if the home cracks, the nation cracks.

I have made reference to our common belief in the efficacy of the political philosophy which we call democracy. It is my firm belief that no word in the category of philosophies is more misunderstood, and more subject to misuse or misconstruction.

Lexicons define democracy as "a form of government in which supreme power is vested in the people collectively and is administered by them, or by officers appointed by them." Or, to quote Lincoln's immortal dictum, "Government of the people, for the people, by the people."

RESPONSIBILITY
If "government by the people" means anything, it means not only public responsibility but individual responsibility. The one cannot be had without the other. To some, this may appear to be a superfluous recital of a principle universally recognized. But has the history of the democratic movement justified this view?

During the last war, we were able instinct of self-preservation. Make life secure for everybody; remove the urge towards the tendency to self-seeking, and in time it will cease to be a factor in human life.

RECONSTRUCTION

As I see it, the reconstruction of a world, war-torn and in the process of revolution, must begin with the generation already conceived and in the arms of their mothers, rather than in the rehabilitation of those who now carry the arms of war.

The foundations of a better and nobler human society must lie in prevention of the ills that beset mankind, and be carried on throughout childhood and adolescence if we are to produce citizens fit to live in a democracy.

In the past, reforms have begun when it has become patent to public opinion that remedial measures must be made because society is menaced as by a plague.

"Prevention is better than cure" has always been but a mere platitude. It must become a living reality before the world may become a haven of peace. Social agencies that divide their time between prevention and remedial measures find that the costs of the latter far exceed those of the former.

But, notwithstanding all that we have said, it is obvious that we must not leave the task to the next generation altogether. We must begin by paving the way now. Paving the way is about the most we can hope to do considering the immensity of the work. Firm resolution is necessary. We must be patient and realistic in the furthering of our ideals. Monster parades accompanied by the plastering of our cities with slogans will not get us anywhere. They never did.

MUST BE VIGILANT
We must be vigilant. Eternal vigilance, it has been said, is the price of freedom. We have not been vigilant heretofore. That is why, when crises have arisen, we have been unprepared for them, through not having followed events and their predisposing causes.

If we believe in democracy, we must work for it. It must be part and parcel of our everyday lives; it must govern our relations with our fellows; its principles must be made to apply to all, regardless.

The principles underlying the philosophy of democracy are simple. They may be grasped by the most simple and untutored mind. It is a mistake to assume that the average person is incapable of serious thinking. History reveals many illustrations of the falsity of the assertion.

It should be the aim of the true disciple of democracy not to be big in his own estimation, but to achieve that greatness which submerges self in the service of mankind—"For the good of all, and harmful to none."

We must realize that until we have tried valiantly to put the principles underlying democracy into practice, we cannot claim to be following the democratic way of life. In our efforts we are having plenty of material to work with. During recent years American philosophers, psychologists and students of social relationships have contributed material of an analytical and constructive nature and made an intensive study of these problems, to an extent immeasurably greater than has been achieved in any other country, bar none. More power to them!

TO PLAN INTELLIGENTLY
It is my hope that the Kiwanis public affairs committee for Canada will, when our tenure in office has terminated, be able to say that we have achieved something worth while in the work of spreading the gospel of democracy among our fellow citizens, thereby helping them to plan intelligently for the colossal task of post-war reconstruction.

While there exists in our minds no doubt as to the ultimate triumph of the forces of freedom over those of tyranny we hope to be guided in our activities by the dictum, aptly expressed by a Canadian Kiwanian that: "To the victors do not belong the spoils, but to the people."

We envisage the dawn of an era when wars and their predisposing causes will have become but dismal nightmares; when life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness will not be a mere dream, but an achieved reality; when people, freed from the harassing uncertainties and sense of insecurity that have heretofore beset them, will unite in building up a worthy race, composed of men and women who realize that there is such a thing as the divine destiny of man, under the sovereignty of an all-loving Creator.

Unscrambled
Transoceanic telephone conversations are sent through a "scrambling" machine that changes the low and high tones to opposites. At the other end, the speech goes through an "unscrambler."

SAGA OF WEST COMES TO ATLAS
The rugged and rip-roaring west of the post Civil War era with all its gun-play and horseplay is the dramatic setting of Warner Bros.' new film, "Bad Men of Missouri," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre. Those were the days when the returning soldiers found their homes and farms taken over by fraudulent bankers, who had taken advantage of the average person's ignorance of finance. It was they who were responsible for breeding the lawlessness which spawned the James brothers, the Daltons and those bad men of Missouri, the Younger brothers

'STAGE DOOR' AT YORK TOMORROW
The name of Ginger Rogers is synonymous with dancing. Separated temporarily from her equally famed partner, Fred Astaire, the RKO Radio star nevertheless does a sparkling routine in "Stage Door," cinema version of the Pulitzer Prize play. Coming to the York Theatre tomorrow.
Although the play, which numbers Katharine Hepburn and Adolphe Menjou as her co-stars, is said to be a dramatic triumph,
those lighter and delightful moments of the dance are given full away when Miss Rogers sings and dances to "Put Your Heart Into Your Feet and Dance," a number composed by Hal Borné and Mart Greene.

CADET THEATRE
Bette Davis' newest starring picture, "The Great Lie," currently at the Cadet Theatre, an event which spells entertainment plus to film audiences. Produced at the Warner Bros., the motion picture studio which has given us such recent hits as "High Sierra" and "Meet John Doe," "The Great Lie" is the love story of a magnificent cheat.
Featured Bette Davis in the new film are George Brent, her co-star in "The Old Maid"
and "Dark Victory," Mary Astor, Lucile Watson and Hattie Mc-Daniel.

Alberta Wheat Pool Year Satisfactory
CALGARY (CP)—Alberta's
bumper harvest garnered in 1940
had its reflection today when R.
D. Purdy, general manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool, told the annual meeting of delegates that operations for 1940-41 had been "satisfactory."
Mr. Purdy's report showed net earnings during 1940-41 season were $1,766,741.57, while depreciation on elevator equipment and properties totaled $641,230.70.
The net surplus for the season,
credited to undistributed elevator earnings, was $723,608.59, despite a reduction of one-third in storage rates and a half-cent narrowspread than effective the preceding year on street prices.
The larger crop resulted in handling through the pool system being increased by approximately 4,400,000 bushels over the previous year, a financial improvement of approximately $200,000.

First Locomotive
Richard Threlkith, an Englishman, designed and built the first locomotive to run on rails.
In 1804, he demonstrated his machine's ability to haul heavily-laden ore cars several miles.
Hillington and S. Jackson, Mrs.
Milnes, Mr. Edward, Mrs. Stewart, T. Devoon; special: Messrs.

he worked with Anderson. That is just about par in any seal's learn that seals prefer fish to

One of the oddest three-way acting deals in Hollywood memory gave Jimmy Dundee, ace movie stunt man, plenty of work to do in "Hold Back the Dawn," now at the Capitol Theatre, a Paramount picture, stars Charles Boyer, Olivia de Havilland and Paulette Goddard.
With location director Cullen
B. "Hezzi" Tate at the megaphone, Dundee first drove a speeding station wagon over a 65-foot embankment as the crashing finish to a chase sequence.
The day after that Dundee impersonated an ambulance driver racing to the scene of the wreck.
He then concluded his marathon
by portraying a police officer who brings a squad car to a screaming halt and clambers down the hill to check on the accident.

Rome Believed to Have Started as Village on Single Hill

There is an old nickname for Rome which calls it "the City of Seven Hills."

That is a good nickname, since Rome for a long time had exactly seven hills inside its limits. Yet the city started on a single hill, and it kept growing until at last it had more than seven hills.

Much study has been given to the early history of Rome. It seems that the first settlement was made by shepherds who had been taking care of flocks near the Tiber River.

We are told that the settlement was placed on a single hill, and that it was called "Roma," meaning "River City." The Palatine hill appears to have been the first centre of Roman life.

At an early date the city, or village, of Rome, had an area of only about 40 acres. A wall was built around the Palatine hill to enclose that space.

Of course we do not forget the old story about Romulus and Remus. The story tells of two babies who were "brought up by a wolf." The Romans used to say that when these two babies grew to manhood they started a city which was named Rome.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am the Other Woman in a human triangle. I have taken her husband and home away from a good woman who has had to go out to work for her daily bread because he gives her no support. I get all he makes, for I have borne him two children. I know this man still loves his wife, not me. He is miserable and so am I, yet I don't intend to give him up. Can a situation of this kind go on, or be cleared up? What can I do?

PUZZLED.

Answer: How can such a situation be cleared up as long as you intend going on "living in sin," as the old-fashioned phrase went, with another woman's husband? But the trouble with wrongdoing is that it can never be undone. You couldn't return the erring husband to his wife if you wanted to, because nothing could restore her love and faith in him, or make them happy living together.

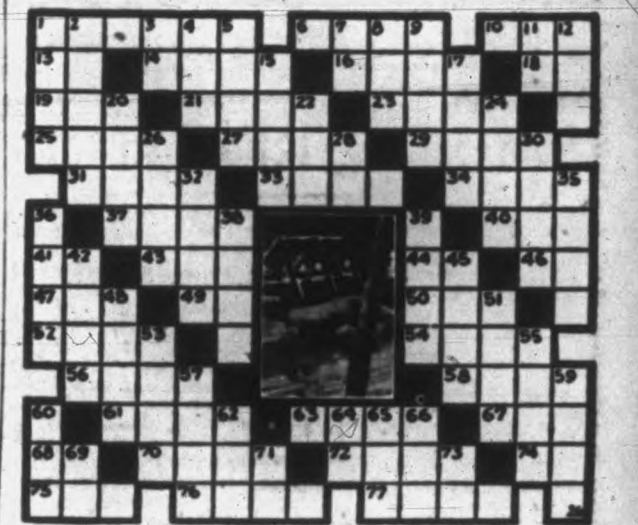

I would think that the nearest approach to bringing some good to some one out of the whole sorry mess would be for the man to get a divorce from his wife and marry you and legitimize his children.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a friend who is very much in love with her husband. She thinks he is true to her, but I know he is stepping out with another girl. Should I warn my friend?

Answer: No. She will find it out soon enough. Let her live in her fool's paradise as long as she can.

DOROTHY DIX.

The larval and pupal stages are the two stages of development of butterflies between the egg and adult.

The halibut does not reproduce until about 10 years old, and has about the same life span as that of a human being.

Wants U.S. Submarines Sent to Mediterranean

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

(Copyright, 1941)

The dismissal of Gen. Maxime Weygand from his post as French proconsul in North and West Africa, brings sharply into the focus of public attention once more the vital strategic importance of Africa as a factor in this war. Weygand's removal is another example of the German ability to strike first, to take time by the forelock; it is an ability which the democracies must study to acquire if they are to entertain any hopes of victory. It ought to be clear from the most cursory examination of the simplest map that one of the principal objectives in the blockade of Germany must be the control of the blockading forces of the whole northern shore of the African continent, and of course complete exclusion of the Axis forces from any part of that continent. At present, the Axis has been completely driven from Italian East Africa, but possesses three remaining footholds of one sort or another on African territory. The first consists of actual military tenure of Libya; the second is represented by the presence of German and Italian armistice commissions in French North Africa, notably at the port and naval base of Casablanca; the third consists of the rather nebulous and uncertain Axis influence, partly of a political and partly of a military nature, in Spanish Morocco and the international territory of Tangier.

AXIS DEPENDENT ON SHIPPING

Should the British offensive in Libya prove successful, the British in Egypt and Libya would join hands directly with the Free French in French Equatorial Africa and would be able to exert direct pressure on the Vichy-held territories in French North and West Africa. Relieved of any fear of attack from Libya, and the British naval forces operating from Libyan ports capable of controlling far more easily the traffic of the central Mediterranean, it was confidently expected in many quarters that Gen. Weygand might have, under such conditions, been inclined toward a more definite anti-Axis policy. It was likewise felt that he might have been supported in such a changed orientation by the majority of the inhabitants, French and native, of French North Africa, as well as by most of the officers and men of his military and air forces.

With Weygand ousted from the African scene, almost anything can happen in the French-African territories. A pre-arranged series of disorders might "justify" Axis attempts to land air-borne troops in the country with the idea of taking it over.

SPANISH MOROCCO A PROBLEM

The particular problem presented by Spanish Morocco is also of some military interest. It is known that French officers in North Africa have entertained some anxieties with regard to the 60,000 well-armed troops stationed in this area. Many of these troops, nominally belonging to the Spanish Foreign Legion, are said to be German. There are a good many tanks and armored cars available, whereas very few, if any, armored fighting vehicles are in the possession of Gen. Weygand's army.

In considering the possibility of British or American aid arriving at Casablanca or some other Atlantic port of Morocco, it has been thought possible that a highly motorized German-Spanish force complete with armored spearhead might dash into Casablanca before the overseas reinforcements could complete their debarkation. The exact nature of the Axis relations with the forces in Spanish Morocco is unknown but grave suspicions are entertained in French Morocco that this supposedly Spanish army would take immediate steps to support Axis interests in French Morocco if those interests appeared to be seriously threatened either by internal revolt or by the activities of outside powers.

DEMAND EXCLUSION

The direct and immediate interest of the United States in this situation lies in the fact that its security demands the exclusion of Axis forces from the ports and air bases of French West Africa. A railroad is now in course of construction across the Sahara Desert which will link up Algeria and Morocco directly with Dakar and the Ivory coast. This railroad will not be completed for several years yet, but the fact that it is under construction at all is a matter of grave concern to Americans. The counter-measures to be taken, however, lie under present conditions, rather in the Mediterranean and North Africa than by direct action in West Africa itself.

The type of ship most needed in the Mediterranean for the complete cutting of communications between Europe and Africa is the submarine, and we have a considerable number of older submarines no longer very efficient for the long distances of the Pacific, which would be extremely valuable in the Mediterranean at this juncture. The appearance of strong flotillas of American submarines in the Mediterranean would probably do more than any other one thing we could do to save the situation in Africa from taking a turn for the worse. This move should, of course, be supported by aid

Manpower Showdown In Canada Is Coming

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

TORONTO — Ontario is beginning to realize that this war is going to hurt many people—maybe all the people—before it is finished. The so-called non-essential businesses are going to take a terrible beating in the not-distant future. Competition for manpower, keen so far, is going to become desperate.

Everyone is beginning to see evidence of the pending showdown on manpower. A major battle involving the Canadian army overseas would in a matter of hours drive home the need for many, more reinforcements than are now available in Canada.

That battle itself might revive the lagging spirit of potential volunteers.

to the Free French, by maintaining the flow of air reinforcements to the British in the Middle East by way of West African air bases, and by wise and foresighted political and economic measures such as may be called for by any change in the status of the French North African possessions.

SGT. WILLIAM H. LEVIS, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Levis, Braefoot Road, Saanich, left last week for the east to resume his training with the R.C.A.F.

Air Force Needs More Recruits

F.O. W. C. Goudie, R.C.A.F. recruiting officer, said Monday that while the air force continues to receive applications in remarkably high numbers, the services still requires all the recruits available. F.O. Goudie will be at the Western Air Command headquarters, Belmont Building, until Wednesday evening, and will interview prospective recruits.

The response has been particularly fine for men between the ages of 18 and 23, the recruiting officer said. He believes the reason men between 23 and 30 have not responded so well is because they have established ties in civilian life, which tend to limit their freedom.

F.O. Goudie said the response of young men after the slackening of educational qualifications a short time ago, was "tremendous." He said they were coming in just as quickly as they can be handled.

Under the new standards accepted applicants with Grade 10 standing are given courses which bring them up to matriculation standard in science and mathematics. The courses require up to 18 weeks depending on the ability of the student.

Jamboree Friday

Victoria anglers and their friends will gather at the Shrine auditorium Friday night for the annual jamboree of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

The affair, which winds up the season's activities, will start at 8 p.m. Association officials announced today plans for the night were complete and assured everybody a good time.

CONSCRIPTION

Or, Canada might adopt conscription in short order. But, whatever the policy, the problem of allotment would remain. There are not enough men to man the farms, the war factories and the fighting units unless that manpower is all withdrawn from non-vital peacetime industries. That involves a plan and some compulsion.

That is the fact that old Ontario has not yet unanimously accepted. So far everybody has benefited from the war and only a minority has been hurt—those whose air force kinfolk have been killed or maimed. The vast majority are better off in every way than they have been since 1929.

That is why there is less vigorous demand for compulsory service in the east than in the west.

OVERSEAS MAIL

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Mulock again draws attention to a falling-off in the correct addressing of mail for men overseas, and in particular to those members of the R.C.A.F. serving with R.A.F. units.

As location of these men is kept by the R.A.F. record rather than by the R.C.A.F., it is essential the fact the addressee is with a R.A.F. unit be indicated by including the words "attached Royal Air Force" in the address unless the number of the R.A.F. unit is known, which should in that case be given. It also helps if the indication "Royal Canadian Air Force Overseas" is given instead of "Canadian Army Overseas."

The address of men of the R.C.A.F. serving overseas should include the following information:

If serving with a R.C.A.F. unit overseas:
Number,
Rank, surname, followed by initials,
Name of unit (when known),
Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.
Example for R.C.A.F. unit:
(Can.) R 1723,
Sgt. Black, J. W.,
No. 401 Squadron, R.C.A.F.,
Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.

If attached to an R.A.F. unit overseas:
Number,
Rank, surname, followed by initials,
Name of Royal Air Force unit,
Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.
Example, when R.A.F. unit is known:
(Can.) R1926,
L.A.C. Jones, A. N.,
No. 10 Squadron, R.A.F.,
Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.

Example, when unit of R.A.F. is not known:
(Can.) R2176,
A.C.I. Smith, W.F.,
Attached Royal Air Force,
Royal Canadian Air Force, Overseas.

In the case of R.C.A.F. officers the form of address is the same except the air force number should be written after the name and rank of the officer.

Place-names may be used in addressing mail to officers and airmen with R.A.F. units, but when place-names are used the name of the unit must not be given.

In the case of parcels, if a place-name is included in the address, they will be handled through the civil postal service, overseas, and there is a possibility customs charges may be imposed, the minister said.

Compulsory Bill
The government compelled every household to buy seven pounds of salt for every member of his family over the age of seven in some parts of France during 1789.

England's Yarmen of the Guard was founded in 1465 by King Henry VII.

Hampstead Stages Lively By-election

LONDON (CP)—Up in Hampstead, historic haunt of highwayman Dick Turpin, a four-membered by-election is providing as great a mass of entertainment as Hampstead Heath's traditional holiday fairs.

The campaign, which will close Thursday, has developed into a diverting battle of pamphlets and mobile loudspeakers for which candidates have been given extra gasoline rations to permit them to tour the constituency.

Due to the wartime political truce, there is only one party candidate, Flying Officer Charles Challen, Conservative, who was nominated for the traditional Tory seat, but there are three Independents.

FOURTH ATTEMPT

They are the irrepressible Noel Pemberton-Billing, trying for the fourth time in seven months to win a by-election in different constituencies on his platform of "bomb Berlin" which won him a seat during the first Great War. To this he has added a proposal to abandon the black-out. W. R. Hipwell is running as an "Independent Democrat." Arthur Dolland advocates "all out aid for Russia."

Flying Officer Challen, self-described as "Churchill's choice," has the endorsement also of the Communists, who have opened two committee rooms for him. In return, he wrote in a Communist pamphlet that Viscount Halifax, ambassador to the United States, Sir Samuel Hoare, ambassador to Spain; Capt. David Margesson, secretary for war, and Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, are "men of Munich" and ought to be removed from office.
